LIFE'S SMILES AND TEARS. BY T. C. HARBAUGH

How foolish it seems as we pass through the years To cover the smiles of a lifetime with tears; For smiles are the sunbeams that brighten our day, And tears are the clouds that would chase them away. Why darken a life with the shadow of woe When smiles, like the roses, will blossom and blow? There's health in the air where the birds are a-wing, In the realm of existence where laughter is king.

Some make of existence a dolorous rhyme. When the tragic in life should be mirth's pantomime, And the sower of smiles should receive a bright

And the maker of laughs have a hero's renown. Twixt a smile and a terr it is said that we pass Down the vistas of time to a home 'neath the grass Then, while to our destiny onward we go, Let smiles far outnumber the tears that we know.

A tear never brightened the pathway of care. A smile always lightens the burdens we bear It chases afar by its magical pow'r The clouds that would darken life's sunniest hour A boon to our friends are the smiles we bestow, They knit us together for weal and for woe: The life that we live is a pearl without price, And a smile is the gate to the heart's paradise.

Smile always the while that you journey through

A smile for the sweetheart, the sister and wife: Oh, plant in the heart of Affection's fair bow'rs The smiles that doth symbolize life's brightest

The world wants a laugh, it has no time for tears, Life's light is the smile that the universe wears; Then, as we glide on to the end of our time, Let a smile be the queen of this life's pantomime.

THE ARSENIC EATER.

ADAPTED FROM THE GERMAN OF A. BERTHOLD, BY DUDLEY WINTHROP MOORE.

ME. PAULINE FROMONT stood before the glass in her bedroom dressing her hair, and at the same time she examined her face very closely. It looked full and fresh, but there were already treacherous lines, and these made Madame Fromont unhappy. She had married as a childless widow a provincial architect in comfortable circumstances. She was two years older than her husband, who was thirtyfive, and it is a well known fact that women who are older than their husbands always live in fear of fading at a time when the man is still in his prime, for then they know that they may no longer please

In truth, Pauline Fromont was not only worried by these treacherous lines, in which she saw the evidence of her decay, but she was already jealous—jealous of her orphaned cousin, Hortense Demarest, who was spending her vacation with her, in the quiet little provincial town of Belmont.

Hortense, who was a mature girl, already long, as evil tongues declared, twenty-nine years old, played the parts of old maids in the Paris Odeon Company. Away from the footlights she was neither homely nor pretty, neither attractive nor repulsive, but Mme. Fromont thought she was a great deal too attentive to her husband, and that was enough to stir up the green eyed monster in her breast.

After she had viewed herself in the glass for some winter the protect hereaft, and a sign would be sufferned to the protect hereaft.

minutes Mme. Fromont heaved a deep sigh, went to an old writing desk standing in a corner of the bedroom, opened it with a little key, and, pulling out a secret drawer, took therefrom a small tin box. In this was a whitish powder. She now took up a little wooden box, in which there was a pair of scales and some little weight-, and placed one of the latter on one scale, on the other a very small quantity of the powder. After she had weighed ex-actly she took the whitish powder like a medicine

Hortense came rushing in. Mme. Fro so frightened that she uttered a loud cry "Long sleeper, long sleeper!" exclaimed Hor-tense, laughing. "I have been up and dressed for two hours! The next moment her attention turned to the little tin box with the white powder, which stood on the open writing desk. "What's that?" she asked, curiously.

At that moment the bedroom door burst open

Then she moistened her forefinger on her lips and thrust it into the white powder. But before she had put her finger on her lips again Pauline seized her arm, crying: "For God's sake, don't! That's poison!"

The next instant Mme. Fromont seemed to be sorry for the words she had spoken in her excitement. Hortense also was frightened.
"What?" she asked. "Poison? How do you she asked. come by poison ?" Pauline was so surprised and cornered, so vexed and terrified, that she did not know how to help herself otherwise than by bursting into tears. "Why, what's the matter with you?" queried Hortense. "Dear, good Pauline, what has happened? You are so strange, you weep, you have poison standing before you—what does that mean?

Shall I fetch Alfred?" "Remain here, I beg you!" cried the alarmed "It was so foolish of me to speak to you about it!" She well knew that her cousin's curiosity was now excited, and this did not relax till she had learned the secret.

Pauline had meanwhile concealed the little scale and tin box in the secret drawer again and locked the desk. She now straightened herself and said: "Hortense, I am compelled to tell you a secret, that you may understand what you have just seen. But swear to me that you will not mention it to a living soul."

Hortense, whose eyes sparkled with curiosity, eplied eagerly: "But don't be so excited, Pauline;" you can trust me, I think. There is my hand on it, I'll not breathe word-Eswear it!" "I will be brief," said Pauline, after a pause "During the first years of my marriage with Alfred I spent a few weeks in Styria. There I learned of the arsenic eating of the people. The peasant's wife with whom we lived attracted me by her freshness, by her youthful face, which contrasted rudely with her gray hair. I pumped her, and she

"Don't be uneasy," said Hortense. "I shall be as silent as the grave."

Eight months had passed since then. Alfred Fromont sat at his desk to write a letter that seemed to give him no pleasure. He had as yet written but two words, which ran: "Dear Hortense." After he had sat meditatively for about ten minutes before the commenced letter he threw that Alfred was right, she packed her trunk and went back to Paris.

After that, regularly every week, she had written to Fromont, and at length her letters had become so ardent, so full of hints that he ought to marry again, that he must needs have been blind not to have seen what she was driving at. Evidently she thought herself extraordinarily fit to take the place of her dead cousin in the affection of the widower.

And it was to the last letter from her of this nature that he now wished to reply, and give her to understand, once for all, that the memory of Pauline was so dear to him that he could never think of marrying again. This he finally succeeded in accomplishing in a few serious, plain "Please open this writing desk."

Fromont took the key from his pocket and opened his wife's desk.

The examining magistrate glanced at a paper, then pulled out a drawer, placed it on the desk, and took from it a little tin box with a whitish powder. Then he brought to light a little wooden box with small pair of scales.

"Do you know these objects?" he asked Fromont, sternly

"No; I have never seen these things, and don't know how they came here."

Fromont's voice sounded uncertain, for he was thunderstruck by the whole proceedings, which he could not understand.

The examining magistrate beckened to one of the police officers, and banded him the little box with the white powder, whereupon the police officer

"We will begin the minutes," said the examining magistrate. He thereupon inquired as to Fromont's personalities, and those of his late wife.

The examination had lasted scarcely half an bour, when the police officer returned with the tin box, which he delivered with a note to the examining magistrate, who read the note in silence, to then hand it over to the public prosecutor. The latter also read the note, exchanged a glance with the examining magistrate, and then declared: "You are arrested. Monsieur Fromont."

"Why?" asked the architect, utterly disconcerted. "Do you not feign," warned the public prosecutor. "You had better speak the truth. You pois-oned your wife by means of arsenic, which she kept here in a secret drawer in this writing desk."

"I—I poisoned my wife!" stammered Fromont.
"Am I mad, or is a joke being played on me? understand nothing of all this."

Haif an hour later Fromont was in jail, and in the hole town it was known that he was the murderer of his wife. In the already disinterred corpse of Pauline Fromont a large quantity of the poison had

Who had betrayed him, how the terrible crime had come to light, that was not known. Only the public prosecutor and examining magistrate were informed, for both had received simultaneously anonymous letters, which had the same concise, frightful contents. In these letters it was asserted that Fromont had poisoned his wife because she was insured for a large sum. It was declared that an examination of the corpse would substantiate the accusation. It was further stated that Fromont kept the poison with which he had committed the horrible deed in a secret drawer of his wife's writing desk, and exactly described. writing desk, and the situation of this drawer was

Five weeks had passed since Fromont's arrest. iis business was ruined, his house closed and judicially sealed, all his correspondence seized, and the post was obliged to deliver to the examining magistrate all letters and packages addressed to him. His conviction seemed to be a foregone con-

One day the examining magistrate received a letter addressed to the late Mmc. Fromont. This ran:
"DEAR MME. FROMONT.—Although vou have for-bidden me to write to you, at least direct, I cannot help doing so now, for I have received no answer to my letters addressed to you at the post office. You still owe me twenty france for the last powder I sent; it is six more than the last time, but arsenic grows dearer and dearer, because it is unlawful to sell it without a doctor's prescription, and so it must be done in all secrecy, and the risk is great. So please send me the money at once, for you received the drug six months ago, and I think I have waited long enough. Yours respectfully, "BARBARA MURR."

This letter came from a small place in Styria. The examining magistrate read the letter through several times, then he called in his clerk, to dictate to him a rather long letter. It was addressed to the examining magistrate of the judiciary district in which Barbara Murr lived, and contained the request to examine the woman and ask her a num ber of questions, which were and ask

The unfortunate Promont was in a state of the greatest despair. He was again brought before the examining magistrate, and he dreaded the moral orture which he would probably have to endure

But today the examining magistrate made different face than heretofore. "Monsieur Fromont," he asked the prisoner, "did you know that your late wife was an arsenic

"I know nothing about it," declared Fromont,

"Furthermore, Monsieur Promont, did your wife have a person about her whom she particularly trusted, to whom she might also have confided a

"You are discharged as innocent!" declared the examining magistrate. "There were grave and picions against you, and only an accident has saved The examining magistrate showed Fromont, who was speechless with joy, Barbara Murr's letter, and the record of her examination in Styria. Barbara had deposed that she had sent arsenic to Mme nt for years already. She sent the little tin poxes with the poison always as registered matter to the post office, and received the money for it by return mail. Shortly before her death Mme. Fro-

mont had again had some arsenic sent to her, bu finally confessed to me that she had taken arsenic for years. I learned from her that this drug was eaten by many people in Styria, to keep themselves fresh and healthy looking. I thought at that time that I already found in my face traces of prema-ture old age, and that, after the brief marriage with Alfred, was, of course, very disagreeable to me. So I made up my mind to eat arsenic, too, and now I have practiced arsenic eating for years, and can no longer leave it off. I have tried to free myself from the terrible poison, but who has once given himself up to arsenic cannot escape from the dreadful thralldom. When I gradually lessened the doses my skin became gray and parchment like, my face and body grew lean, and nothing remained me but to make my appearance fresh and oming again by stronger doses than before Now you know my secret. What I do is no crime, but, of course, I do not want Alfred or anybody clse to learn about it. You will as a woman understand me.

"To be sure," replied Hortense, who seemed somewhat disappointed. "The secret isn't bad. But tell me, Pauline, is arsenic really so advan

"God save every person from it! I tell you, when you have once begun you can no longer leave it off. The whole body is finally permeated with the poison, and if I now fell seriously ill no medicine would have effect on me. It is something away the pen and walked up and down the room. Such a disagreeable matter had never happened to him before, at least not since the death of his wife, who had died suddenly three months ago.

Good Pauline! Neither she nor he, nor any one ise, had thought she was so near her end. It was Winter. Pauline caught cold, and a fever set in. The doctor said it was influenza, and, after an illness of three days, she died. A second physician had been called to the sick bed, but both exerted Fromont had deeply loved his wife, and the blow struck him heavily. He stood quite helpless. For-tunately Hortense, who had returned to the Odeon company after her vacation, came to the house of nourning, and took upon herself everything per-aining to the sphere of a housewife. Indeed, she seemed to wish to settle in Fromont's house and never leave again, so that Alfred, unpleasant as it was for him, was finally obliged to ask her if she thought of remaining with him any longer. Hortense pretended to be greatly surprised, and de-clared that she regarded it as her duty to give up her profession and continue to keep house for the usband of her departed cousin.

Hortense's whole behavior during this conversation had appeared very strange to Fromont. He declared that it would not do for her to remain in the house, as it would make people talk. Hortense seemed very much offended, but at last, perceiving words which unequivocally indicated that he re garded the correspondence as at an end.

One day Fromont sat in his office, occupied with ess, and was so engrossed that he even heed the repeated knocking on his door. At last this was opened, and Fromont's old servar

'What's the matter, Jeanne?" he asked, surprised. 'A court commission is here," returned the old woman, "the public prosecutor and the examining magistrate; they want to search the house." "That must be a mistake!" cried Fromont, frightened, rising quickly, and hastening into his

In fact, the public prosecutor and examining magistrate, as well as several police officers, were present, and, though they were all acquaintances of Promont's, they now made very serious and solemn faces.

You will excuse the interruption, but we are in an official capacity. Will you conduct us into the bedroom you formerly occupied with your wife?

Utterly startled, Fromont complied with the public prosecutor's request, and, on reaching the room, the examining magistrate asked:

"Have you arsenic in the house?"
"No," said Fromont, decidedly.

her sudden decease had prevented her from paying for it. The books of the Belmont post office showed the arrival of the registered packages, as well as the postal remittances to Barbara Murr.

Then it occurred to Fromont that Hortense might be the guilty person. He told the judge what had happened between her and him and the judge de-happened between her and him, and the judge determined to hunt for the author of the vile notice which had so well succeeded, for the guilty person had made him or herself punishable.

Fromont left the jail, and the next day the news papers published the story of his misfortune.

Hortense was no longer to be found when the police searched for her. She had suddenly disappeared from the Odeon company and Paris. At last, months later, Fromont received a letter from her dated in South America. In it she confessed to him that, out of revenge, she had fainely denounced him to the court. Her revenge would not have been complete had not Fromont learned who had

OUR LONDON LETTER.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

London theatricals have passed out of the foggy calm belt which precedes the Easter holiday season, and now all is sunshine again, with a piping breeze blowing from the quarter which generally brings the trade winds that carry the new ventures into the harbor of success.

There is so much to report upon under the new order of things that I must perforce pop the various items into my condenser, and steam away all superfluous matter regarding them. most important production of the week has been Haddon Chambers' new play, "The Tyranny of Tears," at the Criterion Theatre, where it was in-Tears," at the Criterion Theatre, where it was introduced 6, and met with instant and unquestionable success. It is called by the author "A Comedy of Temperament," and is in four acts. He says that he has had the idea for five years, and that he wrote the piece at various times and places, and that he aiways intended it for Mr. Wyndham. There are but six characters, one a servant who has little to do, yet the author says that there was difficulty in casting the three parts, other than those for Mr. Wyndham and Mary Moore, as in so small a company each member should "stand out distinctively and individually." The story, which is told with a great deal of wit, and not al little pathos, is that of Mr. and Mrs. Parbury (Mr. Wyndham and Miss Moore). He is a successful novelist, whose independence has utterly vanished because of his having always given in when his wife, who loves him dearly, decides upon having her way, and, she has always burst into tears as a method of making her point. He loves her sincerely, and has not realized until too late how abject a slave he has become. A bachelor friend opens his eyes, His wife, through jealousy, demands the dismissal of his young lady secretary. He refuses, His wife leaves him, the bachelor friend falls in love with the secretary—there are explanations and good resolves, and all ends happily as far as can be seen. Personally I have an idea that Mrs. Parbury began her hisrymose tactics again in about twenty-four hours, and in a week Mr. P. was in as bad a fix as ever. George Gunning, the bachelor friend, was played by Frederick Kerr: Hyacinth Woodward, the pretty secretary, by Mande Millet; Colonel Armitage, Mrs. P.'s father, by Alfred Bishop, and the man servant, by Stanley Pringle. Better acting, as a whole, has seldom been seen on the London stage, and in every way the production was up to the standard of the Criterion. Already it is considered probable that it will be taken to the new theatre now building for Mr. Wyndham, and used for the open in the substance of the troduced 6, and met with instant and unquestionable success. It is called by the author "A Comedy of Temperament," and is in four acts. He says sing by Miss Romaine, who also impersonated Jaggers.

Lyric Theatre.—"L'Amour Mouille," a comic opera, in three acts, by William Yardley and Henry Byatt, from the French of Prevel and Liorat. Music by Louis Varney, additional lyrics by Paul Rubens, and additional music by Landon Ronald and Paul Rubens. Produced 5. This musical production combines the starting will the starting th ney, additional lyrics by Paul Rubens, and additional music by Landon Ronaid and Paul Rubens. Produced 5. This musical production combines the "straight" old fashioned comic opera with the modern "musical play," but the former element is by far the more prominent, and the gags are not allowed to run riot. Nor is it a case of too many cooks having spoiled the broth, for the pottage is bright and amusing from all points of view. Jessie Huddleston, Kate Cutler, Fred Eastman and John Le Hay are the principals best known, but the hit and sensation of the evening was made by a very handsome and clever debutante, Eric Greene, who, as the Prince and her of the opera, fairly amazed a critical audience with her verve and dash in acting, her strong, well managed voice, and her physical beauty. The story is of the old fashioned mixed love making sort, popular in provincial kingdoms, and it needs some overhauling in the way of cutting out passages that are offensive without adding to the humor. Taken all in all, it can hardly prove as great a success as was "Little Miss Nobody" at the same house. One of its translators, Mr. Yardley, who is well known in New York, is, I regret to say, in rather bad health at Monte Carlo, and he also complains of the difficulty of breaking the bank there. In fact, from the tone of one of his recently published letters I should say the bank had broken him.

Rose Leclercq, the well known actress, died here 2, of pnuemonia, after an illness of three days. She was in the cast of "The Manœuvres of Jane" at the Haymarket, and her death occurred during Holy Week, while the house was closed. On the reopening Fanny Holland took her part, that of an aristocratic chaperone, but in a few days it will be filled by Mrs. Charles Calvert, who is now rehearsing. Your obtunty record will doubtiess have done her full justice, and I need only add that she came of an old theatrical stock—a pantomime family, in fact—and had been seen in London in that form of entertainment as long ago as 1860. Her father was a bal

Have made rapid strides in their profession, un-til now they are classed among the prominent feature acts of the period. In 1892 they entered vandeville, presenting "A Bit of Real Life," and from the start Mr. Sidman's characterization of the countryman attracted attention, not only because of its skillful portrayal, but for the rea son that he depicted the lovable old farmer in a style so different from the "Rubes" previously known to the varieties that the novelty was in im mediate favor. They followed the variety stage during parts of the next succeeding three years, until in 1896 they adopted that branch of the profession as a permanency. They continued "A Bit of Real Life" as their only sketch until, in casting about for a new setting for the character, it was suggested to Mr. Sidman that he should use bits from plays in which he had previously appeared to form a new sketch. As a result of the suggestion "Back Home" was pro luced Jan. 5, 1899, at Dock stader's, Wilmington, Del., and won an immediate and deserved success. The fine character drawing in the new sketch, set in homelike and quiet surroundings makes their offering unique in vaudeville. Mr. Sidman was born in Homer, N. Y., Ang. 3, 1863, and, as an amateur, acted in "Soion Shingle" for his first public appearance, thus early adopting the line of character work which has since brought him into prominence. In 1887 he produced a play from his own pen, "Uncle Rube," with home talent for support, wind continued its presentation for about three years. In 1892 he began a starring tour on his own account, appearing in "Uncle Rube," "Squire Haskins" and "A Summer Shower," which he continued until finally deserting the drawntic stage for the vaudeville field. On April 20, 1891, he was married to Ella M. Brooks, a nou-professional, who soon joined him in stage work, and has since appeared as a valuable assistant in the presentation of his plays and sketches. Mrs. Sidman is pretty, has a pleasing stage presence, and just fills the niche in the sketches which best brings out the character work of her husband. They have traveled with Hyde's Comedians (Spring of 1997, Fulgora's, Hopkins' Trans-Oceanics (1897-98), and are under engagement for next season as the American features of Fulgora's European and American Stars. This Spring Mr. Sidman's health began to fail, and they have been compelled to temporarily abandon their engagements in the middle of a highly successful tour of the Keith circuit, Mr. Sidman at this writing being unde mediate favor. They followed the variety stage during parts of the next succeeding three years, actor, Fuller Mellish, of the Lyceum Co., and known off the stage as Harold Fuller. He was her only son, and his grief at the funeral at Kensal-green, 7, was very sad to witness. She will be very generally missed and mourned.

The death is also reported of Charlotte Saunders, at one time as popular a burlesque actress in London as Lydia Thompson or Neliie Farren, and a leading light of many comedies as well. Her Thile Slowboy, in a Dickens' dramatization, created a sensation. She had dropped completely out of sight in the theatrical world. Another aged actress has deeparted this life, Mrs. W. H. Stephens, professionally known as Mrs. Charles Poole. She was seventy-two years old.

eparted this life, Mrs. W. H. Stephens, professionally known as Mrs. Charles Poole. She was seventy-two years old.

A vast amount of interest is felt in the production tonight of "The Gay Lord Quex." Pinero's new play, written for John Hare, and due after this letter has been mailed at the Globe Theatre. At Her Majesty's there has been a good deal of minor trouble over the production of "Carnac, Sahib," according to the gossips who gossip in print. The title offended the well known and very prominent Angio-Indian family of Rivert-Carnac, and they made a protest which resulted in the play's name being changed to "Carnack-Sahab," but later, when they learned that the hero was all right, they said "go ahead," and the extra "k" was not tacked on or the "printing" altered. More interesting are the rumors that Beerbohm Tree and Heory Arthur Jones have quarreled over the latter's refusal to permit certain lines to be cut out of the dialogue. Mr. Tree says, according to the stories current, that they are too strong for ears polite, and Mr. Jones says they are not, and that he will stick to his contract, and demand that the play be acted "as written." The tenison became so great, and the exchange of repartee so overheated—again I quote the published "rumors"—that Mr. Tree gave orders, "in the presence of the company," that Jones should not be again admitted to the theatre, and then, as an awe stricken theatrical reporter puts it, "the strange thing came to pass that a great dramatist was forbidden to attend the rehearsals of his own play," This, so far as history has thus far recorded the matter, is what happened to Jones. Some leading Easter variety bills are the following: The Palace—Ada Reeve, Ludwig Amann,

ROSE MELVILLE,

Whose excellent portrayal of the gawky country girl, Sis Hopkins, in Matuews and Bulger's "By the Sad Sea Waves," has received the admiration of New York playgoers for several weeks past, and whose vaudeville debut was made on Monday of the current week, at Keith's Theatre, was born in Terre Haute, Ind. There she resided until ber mother's death, after which she drifted, naturally, to the stage, for her sisters were then playing through the States in the repertory organization known as the Melville Sisters' Company. Miss Melville received part of her education at the convent of St. Mary's of the Wood, and then attended Frankin College, in Indiana. Her father, who was a Baptist minister, made numerous tours to nearby towns and villages, and she accompanied him quite frequently on these trips, thus having an opportunity to study at close range the type of character which it was destined she would in after life mimic so entertainingly. Her first appearance on the stage was made in April, 1891, when she played ingenue and soubrette roles with the Melville Sisters. She eventually played many female characters, including Topsy, in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and Louise, in "The Two Orbhans." Her jay character was tried for the first time about seven years ago, while traveling with the play of "Zeb," which was under the management of her brother in law, Sam Young. So instantaneous and decided was the hit made in this part, which was at first a very small one, that it was gradually elaborated until it occupied quite the most exalted position of all the roles in that play. Fora long time Miss Melville remained with "Zeb," but a few years ago she and her sister came to New York, and brought with them is jay speciality which was highly praised. They joined "Little Christopher" in the second week of its run at the Garden Theatre, and remained as special features of that piece for the remainder of the season, the following Summer finding them at Manhattan Beach, in "1492." The sister then married and retired from the stage, while Rose joined "The Prodigal Father," and played Dolly Bond, its leading female role, for two seasons. When the Mathews & Bulger show played Kansas City, Mo., in December of 1898, she joined, and, going on without a rehearsal, took the critics and the public by storin, and was given many favorable press comments, which have until ber mother's death, after which she drifted, naturally, to the stage, for her sisters were then — Manager Chas. W. Charles, of Go-Won-Go Mohawk, writes The Chipper thus: "Were it not for Go-Won-Go's courage and strength I don't think I would ever have the pleasure of seeing you agaio. She started for New York this morning with her horse Buckskin hitched in her trap. Her Indian maid and myself were with her. Just as we turned into the road leading to the ferry the girth of the harness saddle broke, letting the harness slide over the horse's hind quarters, the shafts dropping to the ground. Then the horse began plunging and kicking. Miss Mohawk jumped from the trap and selzed the horse by the bridle, but he broke loose and started, but she selzed him again and forced him into the bank on the roadside. The dragging shafts struck the bank and threw the maid and myself over the dashboard and almost under the horse's feet. He was kicking furiously to rid himself of the harness, but by sheer strength she held him there till we could recover our feet. She had on a long opera cloak that was greatly in her way. Had it not been for her cool courage and strength I am certain that the maid and myself would have been terribly injured, or possibly killed. Immediately after the accident Miss Mohawk saddled up the same horse, who had not been injured, rode up to Fort Lee, got proper remedies, and has doctored us up. The maid is badly bruised, and her leg hurtso severely that she was unable to walk, and will be laid up for some days. I had my left ear torn half off, and was jammed up generally. This is the third runaway she has stopped, one in Norfolk, Va., and another in High Holborn, London, Eng."

— J. C. Nugent states that he has changed the name of his play, "An Indiana Romance," to "Just a Common Man." Robert Downing will give the play an early production.

April 24 are in line here generally, the exceptions being the Park, the Boston and the Boston Mureum, where continuations of last week's programmes are in order.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—"The Banker's Daughter" is billed her for week of April 24, with a cast somewhat changed from what formerly constituted the house stock. J. H. Gimour has resigned and his place as leading man has been taken by Frank sheridan, who will appear as John Streblow. Mr. Sheridan will have the support of the very able company composing house stock, which includes Lillian Lawrence, Chas. Mackay, Mary Sanders, Wm. Humphreys. Lizzle Morgan, Ada Rose, J. L. Seeley, Marian Chapman and others. Next week. "Cumberland '61;" last week. "The Senator."

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—E. H. Sothern openshere 24 a brief date, appearing in Henry Hamilton's play, "The King's Musketeer." It is on for next week, and probably longer. Last week "Trelawny of the 'Wells'."

TREMONT THEATRE.—"A Runaway Girl" has returned to the home where it was so warmly welcome last season, and now will abide with us for a season of pure enjoyment. The play is on 'lli further notice. Last week Jeff De Angells, in "The Jolly Musketeer."

Boston THEATRE.—James A. Herne, supported by Mrs. Herne, has drawn big business to this house, and will remain here during the present week ichis play, "Griffilth Davenport," which has merited and met the warm commendation of Boston and its suburban adjuncts of theatregoers.

Park THEATRE.—"A Dangerous Maid" proved anything but dangerous or damaging last week to the box office sheet at this house, where audiences that taxed the capacity congregated at every performance. Cissie Loftus is a feature of the show, and is the rage with the "upper crast" men about town, and they flock to see her. May 8, "The Turtie."

Boston Museum.—The odor of smoke which recently impregnated the atmosphere of this old and is the rage with the "upper crust" men about town, and they flock to see her. May 8, "The Tuttle."

Boston Museum.—The odor of smoke which recently impregnated the atmosphere of this old house has been dispelled, and now "The Christian" enters upon his eighth week, with Viola Allen in her impersonation of the role of Glory Quayle. The play is billed up to May 20, and the demand for seats during the intervening weeks, is, I am told, strong and steady.

Colument Theathe.—Katic Rooney comes to Col. "Tom" Henry's house for a week, presenting "The Girl from Ireland." Miss Rooney will be assisted by Mark Murphy and a coterie of jolidiers. Next week comes the Jas. R. Waite Comedy Co. Last week, "The Stowaway."

Grand Opera House.—"The Musketeers" is the announcement by Manager Magee for week of 24 at this house. Next week, "A Daughter of Cuba."

Bowdon' Square Theathe.—Harry Mawson comes here week of 24, presenting his four act drams, "A Fair Rebel," with a strong supporting company. The play is founded upon incidents occurring during the war of 'ol-65 and is said to abound in stirring seenes and situations, whi'e the comedy element holds a strong place in its construction. Next week, "Brother for Brother." Last week, "Jack Sheppard."

KEITH'S THEATRE.—Harry Lacy, supported by Ida Van Sickler, heads the list of Manager Keith's strong bill of attractive features this week. They appear in the one act farcial comedy sketch, "Bob Rackett's Pajamas," and are followed by John G. Ransome, the Leonidas Cat and Dog Troupe, the Three Polos, Conroy and McDonald, Guyer and Daly the Dresden Trio, the Vioula Sisters, Mme Barntio (soprano), Hayes and Bandy, the Bonton Trio, Emerson and Omega, Powers and Theobald, Murphy and Nolan, Havens and Andrews, banjoist Dan Polk, Chas. C. Blanchard, musicial comique; the effectives.

Chas. C. Blanchard, musicial comique: the stereoption, and the American biograph, with entirely new pictures.

Howard Athen.eum.—The Broadway Burlesque Co. appear here this week, presenting the mirthful sketch, "Gay Monte Carlo," as an opener. The company includes: Carrie Scott, Le Clair and Lesle, Smith and Cook, the Dixon Duo and Bowers, Bennett and Rich, Dave Lewis, the Mitchell Sisters, Merritt and Rosella, and others. And supplementing the above is the Howard's "own show," in which appear in vandeville turns Annie Lloyd, Mamie Harnish and others.

Austin And Stone's Museum.—The Vienna Women Barbers have proven such an attraction here that they have been retained for another week and will continue to shave, shampoo and dress hair of patrons free of charge in a manner very deft. On the stage of the theatre proper are the Nelson Trio, Moung-Phoset, the Brothers Lutes, Fish and Quigg, Mitchell and Love, the Neptune Quartet, Tale and St. Clair, Rosa Wolff, Albene and La Brant, Howard and Linder, Gregory Brothers, Alexander Dacre, the Sisters Madison, Tom and Lottie Waters, the Lemore Family and Freddie Hindell.

PALACE THEATRE.—Manager Ashton is making rapid headway in putting to the front the house he has taken control of and making it one of the most popular anusement resorts in the city, at popular rates of admission. For the current week the French Galety Giris, burlesquers, are here, in a very catchy show, and in addition is an olio in which are the Three Gardners, Harry Wallers, Grant and Durand, the "Real Vidd," Alice Foote, May Taylor, Ruby Raymond and others.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager Switson and Thomas have booked for the present week Williams' Octoroon Troup of entertainers, in the ranks of which is Erminie, mirror dancer. Others in the troupe are Mamie Plower, the Reese Brothers and Douglas, Henry Wise and Katie Milton. A regular show by the Thomas and Watson home company is also given.

Lyceum Theatre.—Manager Batcheller this week gives his pairons a very choice bill of fare in Mamie Flower, the Reese Brothers and Douglas, Henry Wise and Katle Milton. A regular show by the Thomas and Watson home company is also given.

LYCEIM THEATRE.—Manager Batcheller this week gives his pairons a very choice bill of fare in the amusement line. He offers them a menu that will assuredly prevoke their pleasurable comments. He has booked for the week the American Burlesquers, led by the popular comedian W. B. Watson. There are two dozen of very handsome women in the company, it is said, who appear in an opening travesty founded upon the late American-Spanish controversy.

Nickelodeon.—Manager Louis B. Walker is still running his New Orleans Creole show, and it is still drawing full houses. The novelty of a genuine—coon beauty show" attracts the public. Mr. Walker also puts on this week in bis big curio hall a competitive cake walk, and among other entertainers there are Burkhardt, magician; Duval, dancer on broken giass, and La More, the boneless bodied man. On the stage is the Rose Lewis Extravaganza Co., in burlesque up to date.

Gyrsy CAMP.—Business here last week was abnormally prosperous. The coming of fairly good weather had a due effect, and patronage poured into Manager Burgess' place in a way that made him smile in the most complacent manner. His newly decorated entrance is still a magnet of attraction to passers by, and gs a work of ornamental art is well worthy of mispection. A very pleasant occasion was that of last Thursday evening, when La Belle Freda was presented with a diamond ring by a number of her admirers.

Waite's Stock Co., featuring Annie Louise Ames, is the current week's attraction. Booked: Della Fox May 2, Wm. H.

Lawrence.—Theairicals are on the wane, and ere many weeks, the principal house in the city will be closed. The season has been financially a success, and repertory shows have been a feature of the season. Manager Grant, however, will be still found at his post in booking and giving details on the New England park circuit, being ably assisted by Treasurer Flynn. Eoth gentlemen control the Lake View Theatre, in the vicinity of Lowell, and have many parks under their jurisdiction in booking companies. Some of the leading members of the profession have been secured, including Ramon Moore, Hamilton and Ah Sid, Clark and Bennett, and many others.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Elroy Slock Co. held the boards the week of April 17, in a repertory of plays at popular prices. Ramon Moore and Marion Chester sang the popular songs during the week. Willie Collier, in "Mr. Smooth," is due 26.

CASINO.—Business at this house is fairly good. The bookings for 24: Gorman and West, Barret and Learned, George L. Platt, Devene and Churtz, and May Davis.

NOTES.—George L. Platte will play the Summer parks with Mulbank Bros.' Minstrels......J. Harvey Cook, playing leads with the Elroy Stock Co., has been laid up with a severe cold......J. C. Prouty will produce a new comedy at the New Theatre next month.

Lowell.—At the Opera House the Jefferson de Angelis Opera Co. is due April 24, Waite Comedy Co. 25-29. "Sowing the Windi came 19, for twe good houses. Willie Collier, in "Mr. Smooth," had a very small house 22.

MUSIC HALL.—"The Stowaway" is due 24-26. Local attractions for the rest of the week. Biograph pictures drew good houses 17-19. Fred Rider's "Night Owis" Co. had good houses 20-22.

SAVOY THEATRE.—Local attractions occupied first haif of last week, and last haif the variety bill offered by Manager Mack did good business. Booked 24. for week: Carr and Jordan, Helf-Alexander Co., John and Nellie Healey, Marlow and Plunkett. Al Lubla and Alf Bryon.

GAETY THEATRE.—Booked 24, for week: May Belmont, Marion and Pearl, Prof. Ermie, Rose Carlin (second week), Rennie and Colbin.

PROPLE'S THEATRE.—Billed 24, for week: Fred Wycoff, Briggs and Payne, Cook and Hali, Barney Mullaly, Elsie Lervy.

PARLOR THEATRE.—Last week's business drew good houses. Manager King has another strong bill made up this week.

Lynn.—At the Lynn Theatre the George W. Wilson Stock Co. came April 17, for the week, and did a big business, under the management of Edmund V. Phelan. On the opening night of the Lynn engagement a large delegation from the National Lancers, of Boston, visited the theatre with a band. During the play Mr. Wilson was called to the footlights, when Capt. Young, in behalf of the Lancers, presented him with a diamond searf pin and floral horse shoe. Mr. Wilson has been a member of the Lancers for many years. On Thursday evening the Lynn Press Club attended the performance. Booked: Lieut. Jeffrey, hypnotist, 24, 25; the Clover Club Minstrels, local, 26; Willie Coller 27, "The Stowaway" 28, 29, "Griffith Davenport! 'May 1, 2, blograph pictures of Pope Leo 3-6. Oxford Gem Theatre.—Business was fair the past week. The attractions this week are: The Schafers (Matt and Jessie), Roberson and Sheldon, Irish Duo, John Smith, Yankee, and the Fillmores (Millard and Alma), sketch team.

Taunton.—At the theatre Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag" came April 17, to fair business. "The Heart of Maryland," 18, and "Belle of New York," 19, played to big business. Coming week of 24: Geo. Wilson and the Boston Ideal Co.

Portland.—At the Jefferson Theatre the Bennett & Moulton Comedy Co. did a good business at this house week of April 17, in a repertory, which consisted of the following plays: "Darkest Russia," "My Partner," "McKenna's Firration," "Bonnie Scotland," "The Soldier's Sweetheari," "Mr. Barnes of New York," "A Daughter of the South," "My Mother in Law" and "The Buckeye Tavern." Among the vandeville features were: Elmer T. Ritchie, Till's Royal Marionettes, the Partellos, and Smith and Dempsey. Booked: Willie Collier, in "Mr. Smooth," 24, 25.
PORTLAND THEATRE.—At this theatre last week Fred Rider's Night Owis was the only attraction, drawing small houses, 17-19, with matinees Tuesday and Wednesday. The theatre was dark for the rest of the week. "Side Tracked" is due 24-28, and Washburn's Minstrels are booked for 27-29.
THE GEM THEATRE, at Peak's Island, will open its doors to the public Monday, June 12, with a stock company..... Bartley McCullum is expected here to take charge of McCullum's Theatre, Cape Cottage Park, early in May.

— Leon Victor is touring the New England States in advance of "The Stowaway" and "Brother for Brother." Mr. Victor states that both plays are do-ing a good business.

Cimelmmati.—In another fortnight the electric current will be turned of of most of the footlights here, and the theatrical season of 1885-90 will pass into history. Despite the closing of the Star Theatre, and the failure of Robinson's Opera House to open, the year has been one of much greater profit than that which preceded it. Just now the future of the Fike Opera House is prominently in the amusement eye, for the announcement has been officially made that the Neill Stock Co. will not return. That doesn't mean that all the members of that company are to retire, for Manager Hunt says that Herschel Mayall, Lilla Vane, J. B. Everham, and possibly others, will be in the company that will succeed the present organization. James Neill and Edythe Chapman are to close. It is evident there is some friction, and the story is told that the Neill Stock Co. wants to open for a preliminary season at the Grand Opera House, commencing next September, and playing five or six weeks. That, however, is a remote possibility. Grand Opera House, commencing next September, and playing five or six weeks. That, however, is a remote possibility. Grand Opera House, commencing the first story. "The Musketeers," was put on April 24, with James O'Neill and an all star cast. Last week the Herrmanns (Leon and Adelaide) played to fair business. Alice Nielsen, in "The Fortune Teiler," May 1.

Pike Opera House.—The Neill Stock Co. will put on "The Senator" 23, and later in the week "Alabama" is to be revived. These plays mark the close of another season of success. Last week "The Dancing Girl" was presented, to addiences of splendid size—appreciative crowds they were, too. Lilla Vane was Midge, and she captured the honors of the production, while Benjamin Howard did his best work since joining the Neill forces as Reginaid Singsty.

FOINTAIN SQUARE THEATRE.—Fred Macarte and his troupe of dogs and monkeys are coming 23. Other cards: The Schrede Brothers, the Newsboy Quintet, George C. Davis, Banks and Winters, and the Franklin Siders. However, an Cleveland.—While the season is waning and things theatrical taking on a quiet look, yet playhouse pointers are not decreasing to any perceptible extent. We are promised three new houses, one of which, the new vaudeville house on Eric Street, near Euclid Avenue, can certainly be said to be under way, as the building permit has already been taken out. Another of the promised new houses is under contemplation by Manager Charles La Marche, of the Garden Theatre, and Manager Dan F. Hennesy, of the Lyceum. Both of these geptlemen now have the lease of the Lyceum Theatre, and it is hinted that when the new theatre is built the lease of the Lyceum may be given up.

atre is built the lease of the Lyceum may be given up.

EUCLID AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—"The Charlatan" received its first presentation in Cleveland April 17-19. The chorus is large, well costumed, and contains a large number of pretty girls. De Wolf Hopper is just as funny and entertaining as ever, and as ready to respond to curtain calls with a witty speech as ever before. Business was very fair. Francis Wilson will be seen in "The Little Corporal" week of 24. Treasurer Coan and Officer Hicks' benefit occurs May 1-3. Richard Mansfield 4-5.

CLEVELAND THEATRE.—"Human Hearts," a melodrama of some strength, held attention week of April 17. Business was only fair. "On the Suwanee River" 24 and week. "A Daughter of Cuba" May 1.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The second week of high class vaudeville at this theatre brought with it increased attendance, and shows the success of the venture. Crowded houses at every performance was the rule. The bill is strong, clean and thoroughly entertaining. Geo. Fuller Golden was clearly the star of the cast. Eloise Mortimer, a singer, recently from comic opera, also received marked attention, For week of 24 the bill is: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, Al Leach, the Three Rosebuds, Smith and Campbell, the Lukens Brothers, Patti Armanti and Esmeralda.

STAR THEATRE.—Williams & Walker's colored company was a novelty week of 17. A two act musical sketch, entitled "A Lucky Coon," presenting the entire company, was well received. During the acts Black Karl, prestidigitator, interpolated his clever act. Business during the week was fair. Week of 24 Reilly & Wood's Big Show comes, for the third time.

CUES.—George L. Chennell, of Rice & Barton'a staff, has

third time.

CUES.—George L. Chennell, of Rice & Barton's staff, has just been appointed manager of Olentangy Park, at Columbus, O., and is taking hold this week. He takes with him, as assistant, W. J. Vaill, also of Rice & Barton's Counpany.... Manager Wm. Campbell, of the Star, went East last week to join the Buffalo Bill Wild West forces... The many friends of Francis E. Gould, press agent of the Lyceum, are presenting their congratulations on his marriage this week to Florence Adalade Hickox, a young lady of Cleveland.... Tom Scanion is again seen at his old post at the door of the Lyceum, and Admiral Foster is in the box office.

Columbus.—At the Great Southern Theatre the Banda Rossa is due April 23. John Drew and company gave a splendid performance, to a large house, 17. Al. G. Frield's Minstrels followed, with large business at two performances, 19. Fanny Rice 21, 22, Julia Arthur 24, 26, Nat C. Goodwin 26, "A Day and a Night" 27, Boston Symphony Orchestra 29.

"A Day and a Night" 27, Boston Symphony Or-chestra 29.

HIGH STREET THEATRE.— Weber & Fields'
"Pousse Cafe" comes 24, for the first half of the week. "A Contented Woman" had a large busi-cess 17-19. "Coon Hollow" did well 20-22. "Ten-ressee's Pardner" is due 27-29.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Valentine Stock will produce "La Belle Russe" week of 24. Jeffreys Lewis joined the company 17, and made a signal hit in the character of Stephenie, in "Forget Me Not."

"Toledo.—At the Valentine Theatre John Drew, in "The Liars," April 20, played to a crowded house. Wilton Lackaye followed 21, in "Chas. O'Malley," to light business. Bookings: "A Day and a Night" 25, Nat. C. Goodwin 27, Julia Arthur 28, 29, Banda

BURT's.THEATRE.—"A Hired Girl" and "Ivy Leaf" filled in the past week, to fairly good business. "Other People's Money" opens April 22, for four nights, followed by "Side Tracked" 27-29, "The New Boy" 30-May 3, Ernest Roeber Co. 4-6.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—The entire past week was given over to yaudeville and burlesque. The attractions were the "Pousse Cafe" Co. and the Bowery Burlesquers. Business averaged very good all week. Oliver Scott's Minatrels is booked April 23-28, Jerome's Black Crook Co. 27-29, "Fable Re-man!" 30 and week.

Dayton.—At the Grand Opera House John Drew, in "The Liars," did a good business April 18. Nat C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, in "Nathan Hale," 21, were greeted by one of the largest and most fashionable audiences of the season. The Banda Rossa comes for a return 24. "A Day and a Night!" See 1997.

Banda Rossa comes for a return 24. "A Day and a Night" 26.
PARK THRATEK.—"The Sleeping City" did a fair business 17-19. "The White Slave" also did fairly well 20-22. Coming: "Tennesse's Pardner" 24-26, "Pousse Cafe" 27-29.
SOLDIERS' HOME THEATRE.—Echo Lodge; K. of P., entertained the patrons of this house 20, producing "Damon and Pythias." "Remember the Maine" comes 25.
LA PEARL'S CIRCUS is billed for May 2.
BUFFALO BILL'S WILD WEST is due May 10.

Marion.—At the Grand Opera House Lewis Morrison, in "Faust," pleased a crowded house April 18. The Daiy Stock Co. opened a four nights' engagement 19, to good business. Coming: Euro-pean Sensation 26, "Si Plunkard' 27, a burlesque company 29.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—The past week the houses all had fairly good attendance, but nothing like the usual business.

Providence Opera House.—There was but one offering, and that was April 17, 18, when Richard Mansfield appeared, and of course business was all that the house was capable of holding. The house was entirely sold out before the opening performance. The rest of the week the house was dark for the first time this season. This was owing to the Della Pox Opera Co. disappointing. The house opens again this week, and offers as attractions Kellar, the magician, for the first half of the week, and on the latter part DeWolf Hopper. In "The Charlistan." This is the first time Mr. Hopper has been here in this opera, and as he is one of the prime favorites there can be no doubt but that he will do more than his share of the week's business. On the week toliowing Julia Arthur will appear in "A Lady of Quality." "As You Like 11" and "Fyg-peen here in this opera, and as he is one of the prime favorites there can be no doubt but that he will do more than his share of the week's business. On the week following Julia Arthur will appear in "A Lady of Quality," "As You Like It" and "Pygmalion and Galatea." Miss Arthur will certainly do a nice business, as the people of this city have not had an opportunity of seeing her in a long time. Ketth's Opera House,—Week of It was a pretty good one, but not up to many of the preceding weeks. The show was very good, but many of the people on the bill have been seen here so many times that the bill lacked novelty. Business was fair throughout the week. The present week finds the following people at this house. The bill includes: The Six Sennetts, Harry Gilfoil, O'Brien and Havel, Dooley and Tenbrooke, Mile. Valesca, the Savans, Hanley and Jarvis, King and Gray, the Leslies, Valmore, Mudge and Morton, Clever Zinner and the last, but not least, the American biograph. These pictures seem to be as popular as when they were first put on and interest in them never lacks.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Last week was an off one from both the standpoint of the show and the attendance. The show was "A Rag Time Reception." It was certainly far from being up to some of the first class things that have been seen here. In fact, we have had some of the best on the road here, and one of this sort did not suit the patrons and they did not turn out in very large numbers. This week finds Murray and Mack here and they will present "Flinnigan's 400." On the week to follow a burlesque show will hold the boards. On May 29 the management will open a season of light opera.

WESTMINSTER THEATRE.—A this house last week they had one of the best shows in town, and the company made up of whites and blacks, and they give a good show from start to finish. The business done was very good indeed, considering the lateness of the season. This week Rice & Barton will play at this house, and they have been here times enough for everybody to know just what they d

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee.—Sunday, April 16, we had the first production on any stage of True S. James' romantic comedy, "A Royal Prisoner," at the Bijou Opera-House. The play was found wanting and was voted a hopeless failure by the local critics. Of the company, Jessaline Rogers and Mr. James, the author, alone are worthy of mention. The business after Monday was very light, probably due to the local press. Week commencing 23 we are to have another new play, "Too Much Money," which will receive its original production. Nance O'Neil, in repertory, opens an extended engagement 30.

Witch with Electric Stripms protection. Andrewent 30.

DAYIDSON THEATRE.—Charles Frohman's "On and Off" Co., with E. M. Holland and Fritz Williams, played a highly successful engagement 16 to 19. Herbert Kelcey and Effle Shannon followed for four performances, opening 20. "The Moth and the Flame" proved to be about the most interesting play we have had this season, and did a deservedly large business. This house will remain dark for a week, and will then have Olga Nethersole for week of May 1.

PABST THEATRE.—The Milwaukee Musical Society performed Tinel's music—drams, "Godoliva," for the first time in America, Tuesday night. The house was packed. WM. HACHEL was married to Mary La Brie April 5, at Newark, N.J.

MADGE Fox is playing Sam. T. Jack's, this city, this week.

KNIGHT Bros. are playing Keith's Bijou, Philadelphia, with Boston and Providence to follow.

WILLIAM SIDNEY HILLYER will be responsible for the two buriesques to be presented by the Tuxedo Club the coming season. The first is entitled "A Tony Time at Tuxedo," showing the club house at Tuxedo in the hack ground. The second is entitled "The Bride Elected," a travesty on "The Bride Elect," with the original music, etc. Vivian Wood is playing return dates on the New England circuit.

HARRETT AND LEARNED state that they did not play the Casino, Lawrence, Mass., week of April 24. WESTON AND BEASLEY presented their new act at Wilmington last week and are now at the Bon Ton, Jersey City.

HARRY AND SADIE FIELDS were at Keith's, Philadelphia, last week. This week they are at the Standard Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa.

The ACTORS' NATIONAL PROTECTIVE UNION No. 2, of Brooklyn, gave its first annual entertainment and bail at the Labor Lyceum, Willoughby Avenue, Brooklyn, Sunday evening, April 23. There were sixteen acts on the programme. The stage was under the direction of Ab. Emmett Fostelle. Geo. W. Alleu took charge of the box office and Fred Roberts was floor manager of the ball.

MINER AND VAN have a new burlesque in preparation for next season, written by Billy B. Van and Geo. T. Smith, in which Mr. Van will appear in an entirely new character. They intend making this the strongest buriesque they have ever put on the stage, and will spare no expense in forming the company and costuming the same. Their Bohemian Buriesquers soon play the Eighth Avenue, making the fourth time at this house and the thirteenth week in New York City.

BARD, Bergers and W. W. Eames were among those who salled for England April 26.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark.—Corse Payton and his comedy company made an instantaneous hit at the Newark Theatre last week. At every performance, matinee and evening, crowds filed the house in every part and acclaimed their hearty approval. Mr. Payton was especially well received, in Oliver Byron's "The Plunger." This week, a change in the list of plays brings forth several new ones. The vaudeville performance also has been varied and the top liners this week are Raymon Moore, and Mile Gautier, premier danseuse. The list of vaudeville people engaged for the week of May 1 will include people engaged for the week of May 1 will include guident to the vaudeville stage, but her work is an entire novelty. She has a pure tenor voice of normal range and exceptional quality. Her appearance will probably be an interesting feature.

JACODE THEATRE.—Kate Claxton and her company will be seen here this week in "The two Orphans" and "The Light that Falled." She usually attracts good attention in Newark, and opened with a fair house Monday night, B., after a fair week' business. "iettys brings of the bouse, and the stock company has become a local pride. "shadows of a Great City" is being rendered this week in true melodramatic style. On Monday night the leading heavy man, Robert Nell, a resident of this city, received a benefit, and it was a fastering success, the Elks being well represented. The company adjusted tise in licity to "Aristorracy" last week, and large crows enjoyed a good performance. WALDMANN'S New THEATRE.—The last week for the regular season at this house finds "The Female Drummer" playing a return date, this time with Johnstone Bennett in the cast. The show is virtually the same as on its last appearance, and will probably play a good week. It opened fairly good 24. "The Air Nhip" received fair attention last week. Beginning May I the Milton Aborn Opera Co, instead of the Jaxon Co, as I previously announced, will begin a Spring engagement. The reperiory is long and varied, and at 35 cents a seat the seat appearance,

THE UNCLE SAM SPECIALTY Co., under the direction of Charile Smith and Harry Devine, will open its Summer season May 1, at West Hanover, Mass. Roster: Charle Smith, Bertha Blanchard, Harry Devine, Madge Devine, Murphy Bros., John and Frank; and Prof. Eames' orchestra of five pieces, with Billy Sadier in advance.

Noves Prow Citt's Fours's Co.—We are now in our thirty-seventh week. Business still holds to the standard. We will close our season June 2, at New York City. Week of 10 Mr. Sheridan became a member of the Mystic Shrine, and, was taken by surprise at the Empire Theatre, "Brooklyts, by being presented with a handsome jewelfed lusging to fits order by the members of the company. The speech was delivered by Eugene Wellington. After the show a collation was served.

CARTER AND ROSS have dissolved partnership.

Waber & Fields intend to put out but one road company axx season. The show will consist of "Hurry Burty," the successful burfesque which also be given, and among those aiready engaged are Kelly and Asbby, Henri French and Forke and Adams. Max Fleid will be manager of the company.

JOHN RANSONE informs us that his wife presented him with a baby girl April 20.

HENRI FERNCH, expert 'cyclist and comedy juggler, who is now in his tenth week at Koster & Bial's Music Hall, this city, has signed with Weber & Fields for their road show for next season.

While I appreciate all the good will expressions of the latter, as also from the others, that the advertisements must have been so extensively read, I trust those who do not receive replies will not think me discourteous, as it is an absointe impossibility to reply to all; in fact, it would take twenty persons to do that alone to those who have already written, and those who may probably do so. On Thursday, April 37, I will publish a special edition of The Chicago Dathy Star and mail a copy to all who have written. The Star is my property, and in that edition, in which explanations will be vouchsafed, as outline of the contents of The Bartlett and May Family Magazine will also appear. It has come to my ears several times of late that my name has been used on hotel registers and other printed matter with Haverly's Minstreis this season. If such is the case, I wish to announce that I, as general sgent of that concern, handled only one city, Chicago, retiring from the show there. Howard and St. Clair, with the Flying Jordans Co., writes from Singapore: "We have just finished a very successful season through Burmah, Penang and Sumatra. We opened here March 15, to a packed house, and judging from the audience think we will have a big season. Today the American transport steamer came up to the city and the place is full of American soldiers. They are coming to the show tonight and we will give them a royal welcome. As we are very close to Manila, we get all the news from there very quickly. It is only two days' sail from here to Manila. Mr. Jordan, our manager, purchased a very small baby elephant while we were in Mandalay, Burmah, and is teaching it to do tricks. He also has a very clever monkey, which throws a twisting somersault and drives the elephant around with an advertisement of the show. We are all in good health and big business is the only thing we know. We go from here to Bangkok, Slam, then to Chioa and Java. The Flying Jordans and Little Nelly Jordan on the high wire are a sensation everywhere. All join us in sending best wishes to The CLIPPER. We will write again from Slam."

BARLOW MINSTIEL NOTES.—We closed a fortycight weeks' season of success at Dayton, O., April 10. The season was the most remarkably remuner alive of any yet experienced. PROF. LEVINA writes from Reading as follows:

"When we arrived here from New York the performers who had played the week of April 10 had received no salaries and some of ths people are still bere unable to get away. This house was formerly known as Becker's Lyceum Theatre, but is now known as the Reading Nickelodeon Museum. The manager having sent us contracts, as well as other performers, told us to be sure to be here at rehersal, which we were. He has no intentions of paying anyone but to get them here under false representations, and get the people together and tell them to work on commonwealth plan or leave it alone. The people who were to work on the vaudeville stage struck on Wednesday flight, so they had no show. The curio hall people stayed and worked on that plan as the commonwealth and are still here unable to get out of town."

Philadelphia.—Satisfactory returns were accorded our theatres last week—satisfactory considering the rapid wane of the season. There is a good line of attractions in evidence during the current week of good variety and attractiveness, though not a novelty in the lot. The first of the regular amusement enterprises to end its season starts the vacation period with the end of the present week, though the house is immediately reopened for a supplementary season with another attraction. Next month, however, will see a rapid diminution of the local list of houses. Two deaths in the theatrical fraternity occurred in this city last week, cach of which caused sorrow in a wide circle of friends.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The present week at this house is a blank so far as events of general interest are concerned. Sonnenthal and the Irving Place Theatre Co. gave a performance of "Nathan der Weise" in German on Tuesday evening of last week, and attracted a good sized gathering of the German speaking population. The audience was enthusiastic in praise of the performance. The fine recital by Rafael Joseffy on Wednesday afternoon merited the applause which was bestowed by a good sized audience. On Thursday evening the performance of "Tristan und Isolde" came off according to schedule, and was accorded the distinction of being the finest operatic performance here this season. There was no change in the cast as announced last week, and artistic work was done by those who took part. Some minor defects in the way of scenic equipment detracted from the performance, but these could be overlooked in the general excellence. The audience which assembled overtopped any attracted this season. Effective programmes were arranged for the three Sousa concerts on Friday and Saturday, and, Judging by the expressions of approval heard, the large audiences could not have been better pleased.

Broad Street Theatre.—The current week at this house is given up to the engagement of Joseph drawing powers by keeping the house well filled last week. Next week, Black Patti's Troubadours.

GIRARD AVENUE THEATRE.—The stock Company has been rehearsing "The Silver King" for a week, and it constitutes the present offering, with the cast headed by Walter Edwards and Valerne Bergere. "The Girl I Left Behind Me" enabled the members of the stock to display their ability to advantage last week. The cast was one of strength, and there was nothing lacking in the way of scenic equipment. Crowded business was done throughout the week. A production of "The Charity Ball" is announced for next week.

STANDARD THEATRE.—With the support of the stock company of the house Fannie McIntyre appears this week in "East Lynne," the drama being supplemented by five good vandeville acts. Mme. and Angustin Neuville, with the stock in support, made the most of "The Boy Tramp" last week, and the patrons did not absent themselves, but supported the offering in royal style. Fanny McIntyre and the company of the house are to appear next week in a production of "Paust."

KETRI'S.—The wealth of entertainment this week shows as a principal feature Oliver Byron and Kate Byron, in "The Anxious Widow." Papinta is seen in her fascinating dances. Others are: Press Edridge, Lizzle and Vinnie Daly, Harry Allister, lier, Burke and McDonald, the Reed Family, Morello Troupe, Bryant and Saville, Tom Hefron, Morell and Evans, Knight Brothers, Lawrence Crane, the biograph, and new views on the stereopticon.

NEW YORK CITY. Review and Comment.-There was but lit. .

tle novelty furnished to local amusement seekers last week. The appearance of a circus was an uninstakable sign of the waning of the theatrical season, and if other proofs were needed they could be found in announcements of last performances made by local managers. There are but few pro-ductions scheduled for the remaining weeks of the season, and these will be short lived. The mo-t eagerly awaited event announced for the current week, the opening of the New York, was postponed because of the necessity of further prepara-tion, and those who, having visited the circus, tion, and those who, having visited the circus, sought farther digression from the round of familiar entertainment were forced to be content with fragmentary grand opera, which marked the farewell performance of the Maurice Grau Opera Co. It is true, however, that "The Daughter of the Regiment," which was presented by the Castle Square Opera Co., was probably a practically unknown work to many who heard it, as it had not previously been heard here for a considerable number of years, and its presentation was a feature of the ber of years, and its presentation was a feature of the educational work of the company. The weather conditions favored the amusement business. There was a noticeable absence of April showers, and warm, cheerful days merged into cool and pleasant evenings; consequently there was good business ail along the line, of which, however, three houses failed to receive any share because darkness reigned therein. The failure of Chas. Combinally latest therein.....The failure of Chas. Coghlau's latest play, "Citizen Pierre," the career of which ended after a trial of one week at the FIFTH AVENUR THE-ATRE, seemed inevitable from the start because of its lack of sustained interest, and the absolute weariness which resulted from some of its scenes; but nevertheless its sudden demise bore testimony o the truth of our recent statement, that few plays have succeeded which had for their theme that inhuman and absolutely monstrous bit of history, the French revolution. Still, Mr. Coglau's play was by no means without merit, as was freely admitted by all, and it was thought by many that with careful re-vision it might be put into such shape as would win for it some measure of success, with the aid of the author's finished acting, and its charming scenic embellishment. No such changes were made, howemocenisment. No such changes were made, now-ever, and Mr. Coghlan's impatience to realize the pecuniary fruits of his labor removed all doubts as to the ultimate catastrophe...... Happily, there are exceptions to all rules, and a news item fashed by cable from London at the beginning of the past week told of the instant success achieved by Sar-dou's la'est play, "Robespierre," in which Henry Irving made his reappearance on the stage after his severe illness. The success of this play would seem to indicate that the French revolution is not so unfortunate a theme as we hold it to be, but success in this case seems to have been won, not be-cause of the theme selected, but in spite of it. It resulted not even from the wizard louch of the great French dramatist, for that touch had once failed to endow with self sustaining life a work from his pen the theme of which was found upon the same ensanguined pages. The credit of the present achievement is largely due to Mr. Irving, not only for that which he did for this play, but for that which he has done for many plays, and which begat such confidence in his powers as actor and master of stagecraft as gave to M. Sardou the widest scope for the exercise of his powers; Not only was he enabled to create living pictures sur-charged with action and crowded with actors, as the result of his absolute faith in their faithful and thoroughly effective reproduction, but he was permitted through like faith to weave about his hero a brilliant fabric of romance, conscious that every phase of his complex character creation would find sympathetic and faithful portrayal. Thus did the greatness of Mr. Irving inspire the playwright and give him scope for his best efforts; thus did it lay the foundation for the noble structure builded thereon by the skill of the master French builder, and thus, in the end, did the great English craftsman bestow upon the structure every detail of harmonious embellishment, completing a noble monument, which will forever bear testi-mony to the fame of the two co-workers. It may seem to be indiscreet to thus speak of a work of which we have as yet but hearsay evidence, and we are willing to admit a lack of wisdom, pleading orly in extenuation the almost delirious joy we feel in contemplating the success of this play and the consequent triumph of Mr. Irving, whose labors in behalf of dramatic art command our respect and admiration, and whose financial reverses and long lliness aroused our sincere sympathy. Moreover, we feel satisfied that a verdict must be a just one which is so emphatically pronounced, and to which there seems to be no demur, and we re-joice in that which seems to be the dawn of a new era of posperity for Mr. Irving, while we admit that we are not insensible to the prospect of pleasure and benefit which will accrue to our own community through his promised visit, and his presenta-tion here of this piay, the failure of which would most probably have prevented his coming....The continued attractions for the week ending April 22 were: "Lord and Lady Algy" at the Empire, "Zaza" at the Garrick, "In Gay Paree" at the Casno, Julia Marlowe at the KNICKERBOCKER, "The Cuckoo" at WALLACK's, Jas. K. Hackett at Madison Square, "The Purple Lady" at the Bijou, "The Old Homestead" at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, "By the Sad Sea Waves" at the FOURTEENTH STREET, the stock company at the MURRAY HILL, the Castle Square Opera Co. at the AMERICAN, "Helter Skelter" at Weber & Fields', "The Great Ruby" at Daly's, "A Reign of Error" at the Victoria, the stock company at the Third AVENUE, Marie Geistinger at the GERMANIA, the MacLean-Tyler-Hanford Co. at the HERALD SQUARE, and "Mile. Pin" at the MANHATTAN, the two last named baving closed upon that date......The one week stands closing April 22 were: "Kidnapped" at the Prople's, "A Parior Match" at the Star, Anna Held, in the title role of "The French Maid," at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Joseph Jefferson at the HAR-LEM OPERA HOUSE, Kate Claxton at the COLUMBUS, and "Fritz in the Madhouse" at the METROPOLIS.

Performances in Hebrew were given at the THALIA and WINDSOR .... At the HERALD SQUARE THEATRE the MacLean-Tyler-Hanford Co. presented "The Merchant of Venice" the greater part of the week, but put on "Julius Cæsar" 21, for the last three performances.....The Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' United Shows opened their season April 18, at MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. Purther mention of this event will be found elsewhere in this issue..... — Mary Horne has signed contracts with B. F. Mitchell to play the principal, leads with his "All Star Players" next season.

The Maurice Grau Opera Co. gave its farewell performance at the METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE April 21. The entertainment consisted of acts and numbers from various operas. Music Hall) was opened under its new name April 24, to a house packed from "pit to dome," the attraction being a spectacular buriesque extravaganza, in three acts, entitled "The Man, in the Moon," which on this occasion was given its first production on any stage. The book is by Louis Hitrison and Stanislaus Stange, while Ludwig Englander, Gustave Kerker and Reginald de Koven are responsible for the music. The production, from a spectacular point, is one of the handsomest seen on the local stage for many a day, the scenes representing the roof of Madison Square Garden and a view of an East River dock, directly under the Brooklyn Bitidge, with an excellent practical representation of the big bridge overhead, being particularly striking. The ballets were beautiful, the orchid ballet and the ballet of the four seasons being among the best. And it is to the ballet and spectacular effects only that success, if it comes, will be due, as the book is a senseless hodge-podge and the music is not of the kind which becomes popular. Of the performers Louie Freeard(an English importation) earned first honors. She is a very clever performer, and as Liza Ellen gave New Yorkers their first real representation of the slavey character. Christie MacDonald, as Diana, was charming. She sang well, looked pretty and attogeter gave entire satisfaction. Sam Bernard, as Conan Dayle, was as funny as ever. Other fun makers were John E. Henshaw, Watter Jones, Ferris Hartman, Louis Wesley and Marie Dressler, all of whom helped to make merriment. The choruses and ballets were largely composed of English girls, who proved to be good singers and dancers. The cast: Willie Bullion, John E. American Theatre.—For the last week but one of the opera season at this house the Castle Square Opera Co. presented, April 24, a double bil made up of Rossini's two act comic opera, "The Barber of Saville," and dilbert and Sulivan's one act dramatic cantata, "Trial by Jury," The usoal excellence in stage equipment marked the productions, and the work of the chorus was, as ever, of a high standard of merit. In the former work Frank Moulin carried off the honors. His portrayal of Figaro was excellent. Homer Linde as Dr. Bartolo also deserves mention. The cast: Dr. Bartolo, Homer Linde; Rosina, Eloise Morgan; Berina, Gertude Quinlan; Count Almaviva, Jos. F. Shechan; Figaro. Frank Moulin; Don Basilio, L. B. Merrili, Florsilo, Il. O. Seagle; Notaty, Frank Ranney; Captain of the Guard, J. G. Gibsor, During the week Charles Cambbell will alternate with Mr. Linde. "Trial by Jury, which followed, gave belter satisfaction and was capitally performed. Edward Temple was excellent as the Judge. Lizzie Macnichol as the Plaintiff gave a highly satisfactory performance. Harry Luckstone's rich baritone voice was heard to advantage as the Counsel, Harry Luckstone; Foreman, S. H. Forrt; Plaintiff, Lizzie Macnichol. For next week, the last of the opera season, "Faust," "Il Trovatore," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Aida" will be given in the order named and each for two performances.

Mac Williams. Next week, "the White Heather."

Huber's Palace Museum.—Judging from the crowds which thronged all flors on Monday, April 24, this popular resort is in line for another week's continuation of presperity. The historiograph, a moving picture machine, is continued as a prominent feature. The Noles, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Todey, the Mahons, Charles Ross, Dot Windsor, the Crosses, Tom Carlion and others complete the bill. In the curio halls Wilson, the expansionist; Allini's monkeys, Corlica, pottery queen; Heir Swain's portorning animals, and Victor Basil, vegetable carver, are among the fraks.

Murray Hill Theatre.—The playlet, "Yellow Roses," by Sir Charles L. Young, was used as the cartain raises on Monday. April 24.

Bairy, Mrs. Macclesfield; Sandol Milliken, Carrie Macclesfield; May Herbert, Susan. The Murray Hill will close the season April 29 and will reopen under Henry V. Donnelly's management in September. The past season has been highly successful, a number of the older as well as of Lafimore modern comedies and trajedles baving been produced by the excellent stock. In a number of these Mr. Donnelly has appeared with uniform success. The financial resums have been satisfactor; and it is expected that the clienter of the house will be greatly increased next season, when the opportunity for seeing first clars productions at popular prices offered here will be better known.

Rijou Theatre.—"The Purple Lady" began April 24 its fourta week to satisfactory returns.

Plans are completed for a huge vaudeville performance for the benefit of the Actors' Fund of America, to be given at the Broadway Theatre. April 33. In the course of its charitable ministrations the Actors' Fund has done a noble work among members of this branch of the profession, and that the vaudeville performers appreciate this work has been shown by their voluntering for Fund benefits in the past. The performance promises to be one of the most notable evergiven for the fund. The committee in charge is composed of Tony Pastor, B. F. Kelth, F. F. Proctor, Weber & Fields, E. F. Albee, J. Austin Fynes, S. K. Hodgdon, James J. Armstrong, Robert Grau, L. C. Teller, Hurtig & Seamon, and Joseph F. Vion.

Knickerbocker Theatre.—Util Marlowe, in her new play, "Colinette." is meeting with well deserved success at this house, where on April 24 she began the third we ske of her engagement. The play is very entertaining, and Miss Marlowe's performance is almost beyond compare.

Academy of Music.—Henman Thomp-on, in "The Old Homestead," is now in the fifth week and the last fortnight of his engagement. He is doing well and it seems probable that the good old play will be an acceptable offering for many years to come.

London Theatre.—The Rentz-Santley Co. opened for a return date, to fair business, on Monday, April 24. The olio includes: Johnston and Gorman, in a lively sketch; The Sisters Engstrom, with man, in a lively sketch; The Sisters Engstrom, with several new songs; Ford and Dot West, two clever singers, dancers and entertainers; Charles Robinson, character comedian; Dick and Kittle Kummins in their skit, showing a series of home pleasantries, concluding with a rousing bout with the gloves; Richard Ward, the tramp awheel, in dimcult mancauvres, and Ed. Johnston, with Illustrated songs. "Yankee Dewey Dandy" and "A Night's Frolic' are the ensemble numbers. Next week, the Monte Carlo Giris.

the Monte Carlo Giris.

Weber & Fleids' Music Hall.—The old cry of "No seats" is heard by all late comers at the box office of this popular resort, and there is no doubt that this order of things will continue up to the closing date of the house, June 3. The fourth week of "rieller Skeiter" began April 24, with the usual 8, R. O., and little of that. "Catharine' is siso still a potent amusement factor. In the olio the three Merkel Sisters, in their remarkably clever equilibristic feats, were features. Wesion and Breen, expert clup jugglers, presented an excellent act and received a full share of approval.

Caaino.—"In Gay Paree" began on April 24 the sixth and last week of its run. It has been successful here, and will go to test lis welcome in other cities. A revival of "Enmine" is in preparation, with Francis Wilson and other stars in the east, but the opening date has not been announced. Sam. T. Jack's Theatre.—The closing days of "The Model" are announced at this resort, but the patronage accorded on Monday, April 24, did not show that the burlesque was losing its vogue with followers of "form," as shown by this enterprising manager. "The Garden Party" is retained to introduce the evening's entertainment. In the olio, with interlarded displays of living pictures, Gormon and Proctor, Lucy Campbell and Beard, Madge Fox. Gladys St. John and Carrie Scott appear.

Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre.—Genial Sam Scrioner brought his Gay Morning Glories to this house Monday evening, April 24, for the third week's engagement of the season. The show continues as eutertaining as ever, and will doubtless renew its evidence of popularity in another week of big business. Next week, the Bohemian Burlesquers. Meith's Union Square Theatre—Large business was noted here on Monday, April 24, when another excellent ill of continuous amusement passed in review. Brainy Joe Hart and his clever wife, Carrie De Mar, carried the honors of the occasion with Mr. Hart's witty skit, "Dr. Chauncey's Visit," which is kept continually furbished to freshness by the constant addition of some of Mr. Hart's bright ideas. Their hit was most emphatic. Much interest centered in the vaudeville debut of Rose Meiville, who appeared in a one act excuse for the introduction of her marvelously elever character bit, "Sis Hopkins." The sketch never leaves the borders of positive duliness when Miss Melville is not in evidence, but the merit of her work atones for the mediocrity of her associates sufficiently to bring the total of the whole to a competely assisfactory basis. She introduces everything she did with the company she had just left, and in a huanner which renewed for her the triumph which first brought her to latter day local prominence. The Eddy Family of acrobats, Gue in the first brought her to latter day local prominence in monologue; George Thatcher, in the face single handed entertainment Merchant, and delle, in a comedity strong the the flying rings; Engene Elisworth and Madge Burt, in a society sketch, "Domestic Peta;" Sidond, on the swinging wire; Hedrix and Prescott, in a singing and dancing specialty; Lew H. Carroll, in a clever monologue, and Prof. Kriesel's trained dogs rounded out an entertainment of much merit, lack of space preventing more care ul attention to reporting the details of their work. The American biograph, with new views and old favorite pictures vetained, continued a strong factor in favor with the audience.

Manhattan Theatre—At the first metropolitan showing, on April 24, of "The Manicure," Joseph R. Grismer's three act farce, which he adapted from the French of "Sylvane and Artus," and which had its original production on April 27, in Bridgeport, Ct., there were a few moments of genuine mirth, but these did Koster & Bial's.—The usual good sized Monday night audience was present April 24, when another excellent bill was presented. Willard Simms and Jennie Graham appeared in a sketch and gave entire satisfaction. Eihel Levey rendered her usual budget of songs and, as ever, scoted a success. The Taree Fortunis, in their grostesque act, soou found themselves well in favor. Hentifrench entered upon his teoth week a continued favorite. The favorite holdovers included: Kelly and Ashby, acrobatic grostesques; the Griffiths Bross, with the Bondin Donkey: the Sisters Rappa, dancers; the Montrose Troupe of acrobats; Frederick Clarenze's Quintet; the Frederick Troupe, demon acrobats; the Beaumont Sisters, in songs and dances; Delmore and Lee, aerial acrobats; Johnson and Dean, colored comedians and dancers, and Moung Toon and Moung Thit, Burmese jugglers. The Sunday coacert, 23, drew a large audience.

Johnson and Dean, colored comedians and dancers, and Moung Toth, Burmese jugglers. The Sunday coacert, 23, drew a large audience.

Garrick Theatre.—Mrs. Lesile Carter, in "Zaza," entered on April 24 upon the sixteenth week of her engagement. There is nothing new to mention regarding this attraction, for the business is now, as it has been from the beginning, continually equal to the capacity of the house.

Miner's Bowery Theatre.—Fred Irwin's Majestic Burlesques is the attract. on for this week, opening April 24, and an olio which has been greatly improved, as well as the burlesque, makes it a really enjoyable bill, full of conedy and action. Russell and Tylene open the show with a series of (r) desque dances and acrobatics: Howard and Mack Lidding in a talking act of some merit. The Three Gl-sandne commerce their act with a musical breakfast, and play on several novel instruments, with comedy and acrobatic trimmings. Their acrobatic firmings and the contest of the season, and this weekers tay promises to be a musical breakfast, and play on several novel instruments, with comedy and acrobatic trimmings. Their carne the Sisters Carmontelle, and Hattle's wench certainly was a comedy creation. Her characterisic walk and talk inade a hit, and in conjunction with Mae's lively soubgette work and their clever dancing they gave quick acilon. Their boxing engagement, with wheelbarrow ambulace em significant their act, 'The Toll Gate Keeper and the River." An exceedingly funny bicycle costume and bicycle with a fender caused a laugh at first sight, and the comical dialegue and business, with a speaking tumpet made the audience with their act, 'The Toll Gate Keeper and the River." An exceedingly funny bicycle costume and bicycle with a fender caused a laugh at first sight, and the comical dialegue and business, with a speaking tumpet made the audience begin to the common of the common ing they gave quick action. Their boxing engagement, with wheelbarrow ambulate cns., caused roars of lughter. They are a clever team. The Quigley Brothers convulsed the audience with their act, 'The Toil Gate Keeper and the Rider.'' An exceedingly fuony bleycle costume and bieycle with a fender caused a laugh at first sight, and the comical dialogue and business. with a speaking trumpet made the audience hold their sides. Irwita and Remington, in a rag time cake wark; the Todd Judge Family, in their rapid acrobatic act, having few equals; and George S. Betts, in illustrated songs, composed the oilo. "A Street Fair," with Lillian Grist as leading boy, and Bob Mack and Ed. Russell as the Hebrew characters, closed the show. Next week, the Metropolitan Burlesquers. The emologes of this theatre had their beneft Sanday evening, April 23, and a big crowd completely filled the house. The Sisters Carmontelle, Annie Morris, Clifford and Dixon, Emma Krause, McCloud and McIville, Madelaine Franks, the Three Glessandos, Grant and Grant, Howard and Mack, Jerry Mahoney, Emma Weston, Lydon and Scott, McCabe and Sabloe, and irwin and Remington appeared. Nucent's Sunday Concert at the Star Theatre, April 23, was given as a testimonial to the popular promoter of the excellent Sunday evening entertainments which have for two seasons delighted pairons of the Star. The list of entertainers was in all ways a huge success.

John Phillip Sousa and his band, with Juliette Corden, Hubert L. Cark and Sada as soloists, gave a concert at the Metropolitan Opera House April 23.

"We 'Uns or Tennessee," an original American play, by Lee Arthur, will be presented at the American Theatre May 9. The company will include Laura Burt, Robert Drouet, Theodore Robberts, Archie Boyd, Stephen Wright, Burt Clark, Marion Lester and Robert Elliott. The play will be given an elaborate scenic equipment.

H. M. Hennert has secured a lease of the Star Theatre from May 1 next. The present arrangement with Davis & Keogh will probably continue.

Harlem.—At the Harlem Opera House "Mile. Fifil," with the original cast, opened April 24, to a first class house. No doubt that the presentation to each lady of a handsome souvenir (an inkstand, mounted in gilt) had considerable draught, as the prospects are not of the best for a good week, the advance sales not being large. Joseph Jefferson did well last week. Next week, Andrew Mack. COLUMBUS.—Carl Haswin, in "The Silver King." is the bill for this week, and judging from the large attendance at the opening, 24, the prospects are bright for a big week. Kate Claxton played to crowded houses all last week. Next week, "Yon Yonson."

METHOPOLIS.—Wm. H. West's Big Minstrel Jubilee packed the house to the doors 24. The opening was one of the best of the season, and there is no reason why business should not continue at high water mark for the week, as the performance is excellent. J. K. Emmett had a good week 17-22. This will be the last week of the season. Manager Rosenberg reports that the season has been satisfactory.

OLYMPIC.—"Vanity Pair" made its first Harlem appearance 24, to a very good house, and should have satisfactory business for the week. The show found immediate favor. The Morning Glories had a good week 17-22. Next week, London Galety Glifs.

HURTIG & BRAMON'S HARLEM MUSIC HALL.—One of the best put together shows of the season was Harlem .- At the Harlem Opera House "Mile.

HURTIG & SRAMON'S HARLEM MUSIC HALL.—One of the best put together shows of the season was effered 24, to a large and appreciative audience. The bill included Sadi, Russian gymnast; Gilbert and Trixedo, Smith and Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Milton Royle, Wormwood's trained animals, Canfeld and Carleton, Yorke and Adams and Solaret, Business was up to the standard during the past week. Next week, Weber's Dainty Duchess Co. HARLEM MUSEUM.—This is the last week of the season. The people: Foster and Golden, Jones, McMahon, Burchill and Dexter, Tom Carter, the Dailys and Elste Le Roy.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—This is the last week of the season. The people: Foster and Golden, Jones, McMahon, Eurohil and Dexter, Tom Carter, the Dailys and Elsie Le Roy.

Brooklym.—As the season draws to an end the interest in theatrical matters does not abaie in the least, and the offerings this week are far above the average, and equal those of any preceding week of the season. The attendance at all the theatres on the opening night was remarkably large, which shows that the public appetite has has not been satisfied with the long season's feasting. For the current week two noveities are among the bills. Both come bearing the stamp of Manhattan approbation. They are "Trelawny of the 'Wells'" and "At the White Horse Tavern."

Monyaluk Theatrae.—"Trelawny of the 'Wells'" opened a brief engagement April 24, before a large audience. Mary Mannering, who plays the central figure, Rose Trelawny, made a decided hit with her audience, and was repeatedly applauded throughout the evening. E. J. Morgan, George C. Boniface, Hilds Spong, Elizabeth Tyree, William Courileigh, Henry Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Walcot and Mrs. Tom Whifen also have good roles, and gave entire satisfaction. Next week, Joseph Joseph Gomed, and with the work of the Broadway Theatre Opera Co. did well last week.

COLUMIA.—"At the White Horse Tavern" opened here 24, when it was seen for the first time in this borough by a large audience. It is an amusing comedy, and kept its audience in a happy mood throughout the performance. The scenery, coatumes and other stage effects are very handsome. Next week, "Mile, Fifi."

BHOU—"The King of the Oplum Ring," which did so well bere a few weeks ago, has come hack for a return engagement, opening 24, before an audience that comfortably filled the house. Harrison J. Wolfe, in the leading of the production, including allows are interespected in the production, includi

NEW YORK STATE.

Albany.—The Empire Theatre began last week with Wilton Lackeye, in "Charles O'Malley, the Irish Dragoon," on Wednesday evening, April 17, which held the attention of a good sized audience. It met with much favor. Tuesday, 18, was the return performance of the Alice Neilsen Opera Co., in "The Fortune Teller," and a packed house was present. The former great success was repeated. The Weston Stock Co. gave a series of plays, 19-31, including "The Ironmaster," "tamille," "Lady of Lyong," "Daniles" and 'A Scrap of Paper, "all of which were well presented and to unformly good sized houses. MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—One of the best attractions of the past week was "The Little Corporal," presented by Francis Wilson at the Olympic. Attendance was not heavy, a though fair in the average. Mr. Wilson is a strong favorite here, and his leading lady, Lclu Giazer, is popular, but the counter Spring attractions have pulled slow a receipts at almost all the houses. This week Herbert Kelcey and Effe Shannon are bere, in "The Moth and the Flame." IMPERIAL.—The stock company gave a good production last week of "A Parisian Romance." Lawrence Hanley, as Raon Chevrisl, had the centre of the stage a large part of the time. His performance was good, and, to judge by the applians he received from his followers, he was very satisfactory. Minnie Radellife was very effective as Marcelle. Outside of these two Malcolm Williams did the best work. This week Miss Radellife has a chance to show her ability in "Mme. Sans Gene."

Grand.—Last week's production of "Carmen" by the stock company received only average patronage. In point of merit it was hardly up to the average of previous productions this season. Minnie Seligman, in the title role, did very well, and yet, not as well as in previous productions of this play. Hobart Bosworth as Don Jose was not at his best. Some of the other principal roles were taken by Helen Reimer, Harold Hartsell and Louise Closser. This week blds fair to be unusually successful with "Men and Women."

COLUMBIA.—Last week the house did a good business. The vaudeville was headed by AlLecch and the Three Rocebuds. Other good features were Edith Crosble, Joe Flynn, the Hullines, Four Winslow Sisters, Dave Meier and Marshand Sartells. The comedy company of the theatre produced the farce, "Turned up." This week's bill includes Will H. Fox, the Rossow Midgets, Maxwell and Simpson, the Nichol Sisters, Frince Satsum, Stanley and Jackson and Maude Meredith. The Columbia Comedy Co. produces "Because They Love Her So."

FOURTEENTH STREET.—Adolf von Sonnenthal appeared hight of Thursday, 20, for one performance acted. Her company is good, and includes Anna E. Protor, Hannaff E. Sargent, Chias, Herman, George Spencer and Lynn Pratt, This week Robert Mantell comes, April 24-26, in "A Secret Warrant," "Monbars" and "The Face in the Moonlight." The week following "On and Off" comes the first three nights.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," for the first time here, played to fair houses. Waiter Walker, Middred St. Pierre and Delia Stacey were all happily cist. This week "A Midnight Bell," with L. R. Stockwell featured. The week following we will have our first glimpse of "The Turtle."

ORPHEUM.—A strong bill all the way through pleased the patrons of the house all of last week. Newhouse and Woodworth, comedy bleycle experts, who performed all kind+ of-feats on one and two cycles. Annie Kenwich sang and danced herself into instantaneous favor with the audience. Hugh Stanton, assisted by Florence Modena, gave a very clever sketch entitled "For Reform." It is well written and well acted. The Troubador Trio had a high class singing act. Those old favorites, Stanley and Jackson, made their usual big bit. Mr. Stanley's work, as the German professor, is excellent. The Marco Twins did a laughable contortion act. Jas. Richmond Glenroy kept the audience in a continuous round-of laughter with his witty saying. His "Epitaphs" was the big hit. The show closed with the Pantzer Trio in thely very clever seen here. This week's bill is Caron and Herbert, the Gypsey Quintet, Lew Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robyns, Adelman and Lowe, La Van, Amy and Weitzel, and the Passports.

Adelman and Lowe, La Van, Amy and wettzer, and the Passports.

AUDITORIUM.—The Woodward Stock Co. produced "A Fair Rebel" last week and gave a good production of the military play. The hit of the performance was made by Gertrude Berkeley in the character of Sally Wood, who did the best character work we have seen here in a long time. Jas. Falton, Wilson Enos, Emma Dunn and Inez McAuley were all happily cast. This week, for the first time here, "Moths" will be given and Jane Kennark and Willis Granger will make their first appearance with the company. The week following "Trilby" will be produced.

CLIPPERINGS.—The Gillis Opers House has been leased by Richard E. Hyde and Philip E. Howard, and will open with vandaville and burlesque attractions about Sept. 1.

—Bal Davis, of the Woodward Stock Co., is seriously ill with pneumonia. ... Martin Beck was in the city last week, and announces that the Orpheum season at Fair-rount Park will open June 4, with the Kemp Sisters, Wild West Show, in the Athletic Grounds, and the stage will be occupied by Melville and Stetson, Four Nelson Sisters, the Dillon Bros., the Escandilos, Four O'Learrys, the Rackett stros., and Lellot Bush, and Lellot .... Houdin! layed off here last week. ... Lloyd Brown is in the city, busily arranging for the opening of his variety canvas theatre at Jopiln, in May. ... Frof. Ed. Doherty arrived here last week and will soon open his season. ... Kingjing Bros. is the first circus to bill the town and the bill boards are swamped with their paper. They come the latter part of May.

AT REST.

It is with deep regret that we announce the death of George W. Keil, manager of THE CLIPPER who passed away at his residence in this city on the 21st inst., after a long illness, in the fifty-third year of his age. Mr. Keil had been associated with the paper for over twenty years, and during the past fourteen years was in control of the business interests of the publishing company, also supervising the editorial department of The CLIPPER. He was a man of sound judgment and sterling honesty, especially well equipped for the position he occupied, and the continued and marked success of the business was in a great measure due to his wise and energetically conservative management. The directors and stockholders of the company placed implicit confidence in him, and were guided almost entirely by his advice. Although not demonstrative in manner, his kindly disposition attracted to him a large circle of friends, in and out of the profession, who, when the ice of reserve was broken, found the sterling characteristics of clean manhood, which won their regard and esteem, as well as en-during friendship. His many acts of kindness will long be remembered by his business associates and others, for he was always willing to assist when there was need, and many friends will, as the days go by, feel that a helpful influence has been lost by

After leaving college Mr. Keil received a business training in the office of the American News Com-pany, where he gained an insight into the best method of stimulating the circulation of a news paper. Before he became associated with THE CLIPPER he was, from the night of the opening, connected with Booth's Theatre, in Twenty-third Street, and for some time was assistant manager, under J. H. Magonigle. In 1871-2 he was business manager for Mrs. Emma Waller during her seasons manager for Ars. Emma waiter during her seasons at the Griswold Opera House, Troy, N. Y. Mr. Keil was also a talented 'musician, an exceptionally clever amateur violinist, and an able musical critic. His business training, his musical studies, and the knowledge of theatrical affairs which he gained while in close touch with the profession, was a kind of experience of great value in managing the affairs of THE CLIPPER. It will be hard to replace so faithful and valuable an assistant, for his conscientious devotion to duty probably shortened his days; and, as we lay our parting tributes of respect upon his

Boston's Marathon Race.

Boston's Marathon Race.

The annual pedestrian event known as the Marathon Race, held under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association, and open to all amateurs, took place April 19 over the usual twenty-five miles course on the road between Boston and Ashland, Mass., and was won by Lawrence Brignoll, of the Cambridge Gymnasium Association, in 2h. 54m. 38s., which is about twelve minutes slower than the time made by Ronald McDonald, winner of last year's race. Dick Grant, of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, New York, finished second, about half a mile behind. The heavy cast wind which the runners had to face all the way accounted for the comparative slowness of the time. There were seventeen starters, of whom eleven finished. From the start at Ashland Brignoll, Grant and Sullivan, who finished in the order named, took the lead. About a mile and a half from the B. A. A. club house Brignoll fainted, but helping bands brought him around and he managed to finish, almost falling across the tape. Summary: L. Brignoll, C. G. A., 2.64:38; D. Grant, K. A. C., 2.67:46; B. Sullivan, Highland A. C., 3.02:19; J. B. Maguire, C. G. A., 3.02:29; R. F. Hailen, New West Side A. C., 3.04:59; E. Estoppey Jr., Pastime A. C., 3.33:15; J. H. Kelly, Pastime A. C., 3.39:15; J. H. Kelly, Pastime A. C., 3.39:15; E. P. Harrigan, Highland A. C., 3.44:45.

THE TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP of the Amateur Fencers' League of America was decided in this city April 20, when the representatives of the Fencers' Club won the honors, defeating the New York Athletic Club team, their only opponents, as only two men of the Harvard team that had been entered appeared, and consequently the points made by the other two collegians were not taken into consideration in computing the points for the championship. The conditions required that each man fence a bout with every man on the opposing team, and the final result was a victory for the Fencers by six bouts to three. The contending teams were thus made up: Fencers' Club—Fitzhugh Townsend, C. Tathan and A. V. Z. Post. New York A. C.—George Kavanagh, W. T. Heintz and C. G. Bothner,

W. T. Heintz and C. G. Bothner,
WILLIAM ALLEN, of Ashland, Wis., and George W. Curtis, of Eau Claire, met at the latter city April 19, in a catch as catch can wrestling match. The conditions provided that if Allen failed to throw Curtis wire in one hour of wrestling time, or if Curtis succeeded in winning one fall within that time, Curtis was to be declared the winner. In the first round Allen downed Curtis in 26m. 38s., and in the next bout Curtis threw Allen in 5m. 7s. Curtis was awarded the victory. He weights 12Th, while Allen tips the beam at 160h.
The lacrosse teams of the Columbia College and Staten Island Club engaged in a match on the latter's grounds on Saturday afternoon, April 22, before a fair sized crowd, the former being victorious by the close score of 4 to 3.

The Canadian Tourney.
This brilliant gathering came off with all the anticipated ectat, considering that Mr. Narraway was not in it. M. Smith, of far off Winnipeg, has enlarged the area of his championship to that of the entire Dominion: Mr. Goldstein made a gallant fight for it, coming in but half a point behind; while Messrs. Flack and Davies tied only ½ below Mr. G., and Mr. Saunders again but ½ less. Interesting battling, that.

Of the twelve who finally contested the prizes, the seven leaders stood thus: M. Smith, 9½; S. Goldstein, 9; Messrs, U. J. Flack and T. R. Davies, 8½; E. Saunders, 8; A. M. Snellgrove and R. Short, 7. The winner of the "brilliancy prize," offered by R. White, manager of The Montreal Gazette, was W. Stewart, whose tourney score was 5½; It is worthy of remark that the lowest score was as near as possible fifty per ct. of the leader.

As there were no money prizes, it is of interest to record what the prizes were that called together so large and enthusiastic a body of players, and produced a gala week of such fine and enjoyable chess in Canada's metropolis. Mr. Smith received a handsome case of silver fruit knives and forks; Mr. Goldstein, a gold medal; Mr. Flack, a case of carvers; Mr. Davies, a gold medal; Messrs. Saunders and Short, each a chess board and men, and Mr. Sneligrove, a case of spoons.

The two leaders gathered in their score in this way: Mr. Smith lost 1, drew 3, won 8=9½; Mr. Goldstein lost 3, won 9=9. There was also an "intermediate tourney," the first prize in which was won by Miss Power, of Montreal. We hope some of our Canadian confreres will give us more particulars of this branch of the competition.

News of the Game.

News of the Game.

A collection of Wyllie's games and positions, and anecdotes relating to him, would comprise a large library of very interesting matter. Wyllie was brusque to extremes, always looking to the "shullen," but this very characteristic probably had much to do with his playing a larger number of games than most ordinary mortals would care to. He was never tired of playing, or at least he never so stated. For fully sixty-five years the board was his constant companion, and for variety of play he was always eager. The players the world over will miss the grand old man. Two sons of Mr. Wyllie reside in New York, neither one plays the game......Dr. Schaefer found time to journey up the Hudson as far as Coxsackie, N. Y. There he met his old friend, Prof. Fairgrieve, and they, as usual, came out even: each won two games and nine were drawn. With the other talent he did not have his work cut out quite so hard. As follows: Schaefer won 3, Daley won 1, drawn 6; Schaefer won 14, Van Loon won 0, drawn 6. The Doctor had a very enjoyable visit, and fully appreciates the many kindnesses extended to him.....S. H. Yeomans, the genial Sam of New York, is now in Alaska. Dr. Schaefer says that Sam had it all his own way for some time until George Reilly, formerly of Chicago, loomed up in Stagnay, then it was nip and tuck. Mr. Yeomans says that the Y. M. C. A, keeps three or four boards that are constantly used. We failed to learn whether Mr. Y. has collected much gold. He undoubtedly will enthuse the players of this city (New York if he has much of the shiney metal, judging from past experience. For a long time he kept open house free to checker players, and he may be sure of many well wishers.......... Hugh Cairney has returned home, having had a pleasant trip at the expense of the Philadelphia players who backed Tommy Ryañ. Mr. Cairney has returned home, having had a pleasant trip at the expense of the Philadelphia players who backed Tommy Ryañ. Mr. Cairney did none is kicking. He came there under his true name and expressed a desire to play for money, and, in fact, all through the matter in a manly way, and deserves just what he got. It is with regret that he did not come to New York, as the players would have liked to have met him......H. F. Mc-Ateer, of The Pittsburg Chronicle-Delegraph, we believe, was the first berson to name Willie "the grand old man.".....The Scottish players beat the English team by the score of: Scotland won 42, England won 25, drawn 116. This is a better score than any previous for the English players. They were entertained to a complimentary dinner, and everything passed off cordially to the extreme.

Racing in Australia.

Three important races were run during the early days of March at the Autumn meeting of Victoria Racing Club, Melbourne, Australia. On March 4. the opening day, the St. Leger Stakes, an event dating back to 1870, was won by W. R. Wilson's Bobadil, with Lee Metford second and George Frederick third. On March 7 the Flemington course was the scene of the annual renewal of the Australian Cup, a race which harks back to 1863, the '99 result showing Bobadil again to the fore, with Lee Metford in the place and Le Var third. Bobadil also won the Champion Stakes, March 9, Avalon coming in second and Lee Metford third. The Cup, which was at two and a quarter miles, was won in 4:05, and the St. Leger, one mile and three-quarters and 132 yards, was timed at 3:06%.

Col. M. Lewis Clark,
A prominent racing judge and turfman, committed sulcide by shooting himself at Memphis, Tenn., April 22.
He was suffering from melancholis brought about by illihealth. James II. Reed was elected to succeed him as presiding judge at Montgomery Fark, and the regular afternoon programme was not interfered with. Col. Clark was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1846, and was one of the most notable figures on the American turf. Over twenty-five years of his life were devoted to it, during all of which no breath of scandal has ever assailed his name. He was the author of a majority of the turf rules or laws of the present day and the founder of the first American Turf Congress.

JIMMY DUPEE, the lightweight colored jockey, who has been very successful, was thrown from Liewanna, the favorite in the first race at Newport, Ky,. April 13, having his collar bone broken and being otherwise badly injured.

STRAYSTEP, the property of P.G. Smith, was burned in a fire which destroyed a stable containing thirteen horses at Aqueduct, L. I., April 15.

WILLIAM T. MAGEE.

To the subject of our sketch chiefly belongs the credit of the Louisvilles first victory of the present championship season. It was his masterly pitching, aided by the superb support accorded him by his fellow players, that enabled the Louisville team to shut out the Chicagos without a run on April 17, at Louisville, Ky., and that, too, after being defeated lives by the Windy City aggregation. his fellow players, that enabled the Louisville team to shut out the Chicagos without a run on April 17, at Louisville, Ky., and that, too, after being de feated twice by the Windy City aggregation. Mages was born Jan. 11, 1868, at South Boston, Mass, is 5ft. 10in. tall, and weighs when in condition about 155tb. He learned to play bail on the famous commons at Boston, and first began to attract attention as a catcher of the Jubilees, of South Boston. Later, however, he took to pitching, and gained considerable renown with the Medford team during the season of 1894. When the New England Association was organized, during the early part of 1895, he was signed by the committee on players, and afterwards assigned to Fitchburg, where he did good word. His first appearance with its team was on May 1, when the Fitchburgs defeated the Nashuas by 18 to 8, Magee making three safe hits, including a double bagger. On May 17, at Haverhill, he allowed the home team only three safe hits, including a double bagger. On May 17, at Haverhill, he allowed the home team only three safe hits, the Fitchburgs until the latter part of June, when the ciub was dropped because of its poor home support. Magee was immediately signed by the Brockton Club, of the New England League, where he finished the season. His first game with the Brocktons winning before a result was reached, the Brocktons winning botore a result was reached, the Brocktons winning by 7 to 6. On July 23, at Bangor, he held the home team down to four safe hits, the Brocktons winning by 5 to 0. He did such brilliant work that season participated in thirty-six championship games. Some of his most noteworthy contests that year were as follow: July 14, at Brockton, the home team defeated the Augustas by 3 to 0. On Sept. 10, at New Bedford, he allowed the home team only five safe hits, the Brocktons, who made only one safe hit, winning by 1 to 0. It was his excellent work that year that brought his name prominently before the baseball world as a likely candidate for major league

schedule of Games Adopted — Newark Club Withdraws Its Suit.

The Atlantic League schedule meeting was held April 18, at Philadelphia, Pa. Beside President Edward Barrows, who occupied the chair, these officials were present: W. S. Wright, Paterson; C. B. Bioemecks, Newark; E. B. Douglass, Allentown; A. K. Spurrier, Lancaster; Jacob Wells, Richmond; William Rutledge and John Redington, Wikesbarre; M. Swift, Seranton, and F. P. Rinn and F. G. Patton, Reading. When the schedule was brought out it did not take long for Richmond to go over to the majority and consent to its adoption. Earle Douglass, the Allentown representative, however, lifted up his voice in energetic protest. The holiday dets allotted to his club were far from his liking. His club was assigned to Richmond for two games on Decoration Day, which Douglass claimed was by no means as good a holiday in the South as it is in his State. Then, too, he claimed that Labor Day, which his club was given at home with Richmond, was by no means well observed at Allentown as a holiday. Despite the young magnate's carnest protest the schedule was adopted, although Douglass, Guring the discussion, had wired home to stop the improvements on the new park there.

Aside from this the meeting was harmonious, and there was cause for rejoicing when the suit entered by C. B. Bloemecke, owner of the Newark Club, was withdrawn, concessions having been made to him in the matter of Sunday games. Players Jack Thornton, formerly of the Phillies, and Joe Herndon, who have been on the Atlantic League's ineligible list, were reinstated. Herndon will go to Newark and Thornton to Paterson.

The Brooklyns struck another snag at Philadelphia, Pa., April 20, when they went there for the opening game of their scries with the Philadelphia team. Peter Cassidy, the substitute infielder, was chiefly responsible for the downfall of the visitors. The four runs scored by the locals were the result of Cassidy's poor work at short, he having been substituted in place of Jennings, who had injured his arm in practice at Boston. "YOUNG PLUTO" again came to grief on Saturday night, April 22, when he met Tim Caliaha before the Pelican Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in presence of a big crowd. Caliahan had all the best of the milling throughout, but lacked strength and punching power sufficient to give the colong filed the quietus; consequently the bout went to the limit, Pluto being severely punished and Tim receiving the decision.

MARTIN FLAHERTY, of Lowell, Mass., and Larry Burns, of Cohoes, engaged in one of the best contested twenty round glove figuits of the year before the Myers' West End Athletic Club, of Albany, N. Leoni, modeler; Maratona, aword walker, and the usual Midway show in the theatre. Goastr.—Ringling's Circus has been a week at Tattersall's, and has been dotting a first class business. The circus is "the real thing," even with society people, and they come in carriages, street cars and clevated trains to see the carriages, street cars and clevated trains to see the set Saturday. "By Jrwin was the guest of the 100 Clab hast Saturday." "By Jrwin was the guest of the 100 Clab hast Saturday." "By Jrwin was the guest of the 100 Clab hast Saturday." "By Jrwin Bow Saturday." "The Saturday of the Wells" is coming to Powers' shortly. "Because she Loved Him So" is down for a Summer run. "Because She Loved Him So" is down for a Summer run. "Alco Nielsen's return engagement at the Columbia, in "The Fortune Teiler," begins May 8.

Neisen's return engagement at the Columbia, in "The Fortune Teller," begins May 8.

Peoria.—At the Grand Opers House, April 9, Miss St. George Hussey, in "Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, Wash Lady," had good atendance. The Boones, 10, 11, opened to a big house, but owing to an accident which befell Mr. Boone the second night's entertainment was abandoned and money refunded, "Darkest Russia," 12, had small attendance. Sol Smith Russell had a packed house 14. "My Friend from India," 16 (return date), played to a good audience. "The Turtle" had a Fairty large audience 19. The performance was not well liked and fell rather fast, notwithstanding its very racy nature. Coming: "On and Off" 22, "Faust" 23, "A Lady of Quality" (Eugenie Blair) 27, Jones Stock Co. May 1, for an indefinite run.

AUDITORIUM.—"The Passion Play" pictures will be seen here April 27-30.

Weast Theathe.—Good bills, and large crowds seem to be the rule at this hodse. The newsboys' matinees take well, and are always the magnet for attracting the bulk of these little fellows to the theatre on the days allotted. Ladfes' complimentary matinees are also largely patronized, and through this scheme the place is becoming quite popular.

Nores.—A. Emerson Jones is in the city and has been for some time, arranging for the opening of the Summer season at the Grand. Mr. Jones' stock company will play for an indefinite period, opening May 1, in "Jim the Penman." A repertory of popular plays will be given, among which are "The Wife," "Charity Ball," "Leah, the Forsaken," "A Social Highwayman," "Diplomacy," "Held by the Enemy," and such. A schedole of hot weather prices has been arranged, and it is believed the season will be a great success..... The Auditorium Theatre has changed hands, A. R. Waterman having stepped out and Chamberlin, Harrington & Co. having assumed charge for the remainder of the season. The new managers propose to make it a vaudeville house and are booking with that end in view.

Decatur.—At the Powers Grand "Darkest Russis" came April is, to fairly good business. Sol. Smith Russell presented "Hon. John Grigsby" 19, to a packed house, and in response to enthusiatic applause he appeared bifore the curtain at the end of the first act and made his customary refreshing speech. "The Turtle" did only fairly well 20. Coming: The Deshon Du Yries Opera Co. April 24-25, De Forest Davis' "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. 27.

Cabin" Co. 27.

Quincy.—At the Empire the Deshon-Du Vries Opera Co. opened April 17, to S. R. O. The attendance as the week progressed was good Sol Smith Russell, in "The Hon. John Grigsby," 18, played to the largest and most enthusiastic audience of the season. "My Friend from India" comes 22, "On and Off" 24, Robt. Mantell 29.

Coming: Robert Mantell 21, 22, Wolford Co. 24, 25, Redmond Co. week of May 1.

Wichita.—At the Crawford Grand the Klimt-Hearn Co. opened week of April 17, 10 good busi-ness. This is one of the best companies playing at popular prices that travels in the West, and Sol Bruning, the manager, says that it has been playing to S. R. O. through Texas and Arkansas. "Black Crook?" is booked for May 1..... Wm. Riley llatch. bartione soleist, who has been spending several weeks in the city, visiting relations, has gone to Chicago to accept an engagement for the coming season.

Leavenworth.—At Crawford's Grand Opera House Joe Ott, in "Looking for Trouble," came April 15, to good business. Coming: Robert Man-tell 19, "Shadows of a Great City" 22, Kempton Komedy Ko. week of 24.

VIRGINIA.

VIRGINIA.

Norfolk.—At the Academy of Music Murray and Mack were well received April 15. Nat C. Goodwin followed 17, presenting "Nathan Hale," to an audience that packed the house from pit to dome. "The Dazzler" was rather a disappointment 22. With this last attraction the regular theatrical season of 1898-90 at this house virtually closed.

Auditorium Thatae.—People to be seen at this resort week of 24 are: Ford and Da Vern, Lorraine and Howell, Hanson and Nelson, Lynch and Trainer, Wall Bros., Militar Sisters, Addie Favant, and Hamilton and Wiley. Business good. James C. Barton, of this theatre, who has just undergone a surgical operation at the St. Vincent Hospital, is now on the road to recovery and is expected to be out in a short while.

ATLANTIC GARDEN.—People who appear here week of 24 are: Englehart and Rose, Ed. Heirling, Bert Richman and John Lemuels. During the Summer Manager Kayton, of this house, expects to take out a ministrel company under canvas.

CORSE PAYTON AND HIS COMEDY CO.

DURING THE WEEK OF APRIL

The above company have just closed their first week's engagement at the Newark Theatre. and have played to enormous houses at every performance. They have given entire satisfaction, and my own opinion is that the entertainment they present is wonderful for the prices, and would be considered wardrobe, furniture, carpets, etc., which they carry would be good enough for any Broadway theatre.

LEE OTTOLENGUI, Mgr. Newark Theatre. Respectfully, CORSE PAYTON'S COMEDY COMPANY HAVE PLAYED TO THE LARGEST BUSINESS EVER DONE AT POPULAR PRICES. YOU MUST ACKNOWLEDGE THIS, AS IT CAN BE PROVEN.

BIJOU.—For week of 24: George Wilson is announced as the headliner, surrounded by Post and Clinton, Wellby Pearie, Keys and Nellis, Emma Carus, Cart and McLeod and the Nondescript Trio. The attendance for week of 19 was very large. PUTNAM'S TREATRE COMIQUE.—Opening 24, for week: Isabelle Shelton, Lillian Williams, Elsie Seymour, Jennie Lanier and Billy Stevens. Business is fair.

BUFFALO BILL'S WILD WEST gave two performances 21, to the usual large crowds.

Petersburg.—At the Academy of Music the Boston Ladies' Military Band pleased a small house April 19....At Base Ball Park Prof. Gentry's Dog and Pony Show delighted two large audiences 17.

NOTES FROM CAPT. W. D. AMENTS' VAUDEVILLE CIRCUS.

—This makes our sixth week out. We are having ideal circus weather this week, and it's so warm the boys hunt the shady side of the street. Our little show has made an excellent impression in the South, and receives the highest-praise from both press and public. We were greeted with a packed tent at our opening in Nashville, Tenn. We make a jump next Sunday of 150 miles to Evansville, Ind. J. H. Cooper, cornet player; Will Taft, trap drummer, and the Casad Rox. have lately joined. We now have fifteen men in the band, and Prof. Kritch-field is putting up some very strong concert overtures. Our train of cars have just been repainted red, white and blue, and they look so loud they can see us coming at the next stand before one of the contraint of cars have just been repainted red, white and blue, and they look so loud they can see us coming at the next stand before one of the contraint of cars have just been repainted red, white and blue, and they look so loud they can see us coming at the next stand before the contraint of the contraint of cars have just been repainted red, white and blue, and they look so loud they can see us coming at the next stand before the contraint of the c

ALHAMBRA MUSIC HALL.—W. H. Trueheart and his company played to the capacity of the house week of 17. The new people, Carlisle Sisters and Mona Wynne, are favorites. The silence and fun as presented by W. H. Trucheart and Mona Wynne is a pleasant feature of the programme. Hayter and Hayter closed 22. The new faces scheduled to appear week of 24 are: Karle and Randoiph, and Grace Randolph. The others are: Sadie Wealey, Alice Dillon, and Johnson sud Stevens.

Notes.—Little Vera Harvey was entertained by a party of friends 18. The afternoon was spent at Thunderbott and Miss Harvey was presented with a shandsome pair of spanish slippers as a nouvenir of the occasion. ... Mabis Seffon was presented with a gold watch and chain 19, a gift of an admiring friend. ... Frank Binney, comedian, has left the stage for the present, and is now conducting a cigar store in this city. He has many friends here who will, no doubt, patronize him in his new business. ... Sophis Clifford, and Hill and Edmunds are laying off.

Atlanta.—At the Grand Thomas' Orchestra held the boards April 17-19, opening to the capacity of house and doing excellent business the rest of engagement, at advanced-prices, COLUMBIA.—Tolson and Todd came for a week on 17, opening to 8. is intended for vaudeville performers who want the latest parodies, the newest stories, the funniest lokes, etc. It costs one dollar per copy, but your money goes back at once if for any reason whatsoever you do not consider it worth more than it costs. Under such a liberal and safe guarantee I can conceive no reason why every performer in America should not send for a copy—AT MY RISK. I have received the highest endorsements from such eminent artists as Tony Pastor, Rogers Brothers, Press Eidridge, Will H. Fox, Barney Ferguson, etc. If the Budget pleases them, it probably will please you also. Of course there are some performers without energy or ambition who are content to do the same old acts year after year until managers become disgusted and audiences weary. Then they are compelled to sink into the black depths of oblivion cursing their fate, for which, however, they themselves are to blame. My remarks are not addressed to this class. I want of action to the bright, and the bright, and the bright, and the same of the bright, and the same of the comprehensible that I should be able to furnish so much brilliant original stuff for one dollar, but it is the grand and glorious truth nevertheless. Open Letter to Medicine Men: GENTLEMEN—You are no doubt sware of the fact that the day for "Grafters," "Fakirs" and the long-haired Indian medicine men has past, and that the man who depends upon the public for his support must be able to years ago, with these facts before ne. I organized a co. consisting of seven people. The business steadily grew until I found myself carrying 35 people, traveling in my own special train of four cars, with six people ahead, using special advance can, billing the country thoroughly within a radius of 20 miles of each stand. Sometime since we came to Kanasa City, one of the most wide awake and progressive business towns as well as the greatest railroad centre in the United States. A tour of inspection disclosed overwhelming quarters. So, after twenty years of experience, I concluded to "quit the road," and open up a medicine supply house in conjunction with America's foremost specialists, "The German American Staff of Physicians and Surgeona." I have located here permanently, have the and largest business block in the whole city, situated on one of the principal sixeteix, and directly opposite the Post Office. I own my own printing establishment, box and soap factory, and with the assistance and backing I am now prepared to give, by carefully following the Post Office. ANOTHER TREMENDOUS HIT!

THE SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER, of April IR, says: "The Favor-Sinclair combination took the honors at the Orpheum last night. The singing and dancing due were both new and good. Favor can act and sing, and play lighting change artist, while Edith Sinclair is a comedy opers in compact form. Her performance as a female barber, with her associate as the victim of her razor and lather, kept the big house laughing till the beer glasses shook. She has a melodious, well trained voice, and used it to good effect in several new songs."

THE SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE, of April IR, says: "At the Orpheum there was the usual crowd last night. Of the new comers, the createst hit was made by Favor and Sinclair, who have a very successful act in 'A HIGH ROILLER,' in which the two clever people play seven characters."

THE SAN FRANCISCO CEPORT, of April IR, says: "Another most entertaining bill may be seen at the Orpheum this week. Among the clever performers who made a big hit Monday night were Edward M. Favor and Edith Sinclair, in an original sketch, called 'A HIGH ROILLER.' The plees gives the pair opportunity for some very artistic work."

STILL HAS ZEKE WITH HER. HE'S FUNNIER THAN EVER. AST LAST week I hay down for repairs on a surgeon's table at St. Joseph's Hospital, Norfolk. The lady nurses were lovely, and said they never saw so brave a cowboy, as I never grunted while I was being sewed up. They wanted the doctor to chloroform me and take away all my jewelry, but he felt in my pockets to see it I had guns, and only shaved off my moustache. I am now "O. K.," like Nato, but will never again be able to do more than two shows a day.

WANTED, SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

DRAMATIC MIRROR, April 8.

Reno and Richards, next to 4 Co-hans, scored the hit of the programme, with their comedy acrobatic act. It is seldom that such loud and continued laughter is heard in a theatre as that which followed this team throughout their turn. They have improved their act in every way, and it now easily ranks as one of the very best of if Reno keeps at work feeding new stuff, they can its kind on the stage. The business with the supers is exeruciatingly fanny, and the entire skit most of the allegedly funny ones, and gives good promise. They held the stage for some time yesterday, and still got applause at the close.

the one credited to Reno and Richards, who seem to have taken the place once accorded the old Caron and Herbert act. Reno has developed from a very ordinary comedian into a man possessed of unction, which is, after all, better than mere ability to be funny, and he has developed the comedy features of the act, while Richards has worked up the acrobatics. The result is an act which has more fun in it than would have been supposed possible when it was first shown a couple of years ago, and

The one novelty on the bill was the acrobatic and comedy are presented by RENO and RICHARDS, and this act made a hit with the Keith audience fully equal to the

Since in its present form it is new, a brief description will do. The tct opens with some extremely clever acrobatic work by both Richards and Reno, and then Reno, who is the comedian, gets into harness and levotes about twelve minutes to pure foolery—during which time the

No funnier bit of acrobatic work than Reno and Richards presented yesterday has been seen at this theatre. It is brilliantly funny, and the bright, keen audiences that frequent this theatre saw quickly and appreciated it all yesterday. No heartier laughter is possible than the laughter caused by the work of these two men yesterday. It is fulnny, and it is not only funny for a few min-utes at each end, but it's funny, irresistibly funny, all the time. It's decidedly original, too, and holds the audience for about half an hour. As has been stated, much of it is very clever acrobatic work, and it is very graceful. Neither of the talented and skilled acrobats speaks a word, but their actions win favor from every one. Many a sketch with bright lines in it falls to delight every one at his does, and the fun is without any horse play either.
